TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB NEW HOME LIKE MISSION

Housewarming to Take Place Next Monday Afternoon; Formal Opening to Occur On Tuesday Night for Members and Escorts

IT is in the footprints on the old Indian trails leading across this peaceful valley to lands beyond the Green Verdugo Hills lies the record of the onward march of modern civilization. Dropping anchor in San Pedro harbor 150 years ago, and then journeying out Verdugo Road through the little village of Los Angeles, past the Plaza with its Church of the Angels and into this vast and fertile valley to the north and east, the early Californian sensed the great prosperity held in store by the coming decades.

This was the land God had graciously blessed, and as the Indians roamed over mesa and plain, and the Mission padres traveled back and forth on the Camino Real along their chain of missions, and the Forty-Niners looked upon this wonderland after their perilous journeyings over the plains, they were all inspired with the happiness in this western land and they strove together toward the development of its resources and perpetuation of its beauty and romance.

By the great Pacific ocean the brown-robed padres and faithful Indians built twenty-one missions, and the early Californians their homes. Each structure represented months of wearisome toil. From the rich adobe soil the Indians moulded huge bricks and curved roof tile; from the nearby mountains they brought timber for the beams, which they bound together with strips of rawhide.

Spirit of Beauty
In these church buildings and the haciendas on the scattered ranchos was wonderfully and immortally blended the Spanish simplicity and art and California's overpowering spirit of the beauty of God's great out-of-doors.

A journey down the Camino Real of today, past the ruins or restorations of the old missions, and past some of the remaining buildings on the sites of the old ranchos, is convincing proof that only in a California-Spanish type of home or public building is the real wonder spirit of California expressed.

And this California-Spanish atmosphere has not passed with the ages, but has become a dominating influence in western architecture.

Glendale's Tribute
Modern civilization has seized this great western state, and here in the peaceful valley at the foot of the Green Verdugo Hills stands Glendale, a thriving, modern city of more than 35,000 inhabitants.

Glendale's perfect tribute to California's early history and romance is to be found in the new home of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, located at the northeast corner of Central avenue and Lexington drive, to be opened at a housewarming Monday afternoon and at a formal opening event Tuesday night of next week.

The Tuesday Afternoon Club house is a wonderful masterpiece in California-Spanish architecture and will add another laurel to California's architectural fame.

Probe $100,000 Fire at Historic Army Quarters

WASHINGTON, March 10.—An investigation of a spectacular fire which wiped out eight buildings at Fort Meyer, Va., just across the Potomac river from Washington, with a property loss of $100,000 and fourteen casualties was ordered today by Acting Secretary of War Davis.

Destruction of the entire army post, one of the most historic in the United States, was threatened, but with the assistance of fire fighting companies from Washington, the blaze was placed under control early this morning.

DOCTORS REFUSE TO AID BOYCOTT

German Medical Men Will Treat French, Belgians, Says Spokesman

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
ESSEN, March 10.—German doctors in the Ruhr are refusing to boycott French and Belgians on the ground that such action would be unethical, it was declared today by a spokesman for the German medical profession.

"It would be inhuman and unethical to boycott the French and Belgians," said Dr. Fritz Filby. "It would be dangerous to undertake such a thing. It would be a blot upon our honor—a thing unthinkable."

Dr. Filby said that his reply and the reply of the entire medical profession in the Rhineland to the manifesto of two German organizations that German doctors refuse to treat the invaders.

Calls Request Stupid
The demand that German physicians refuse to give medical assistance to French and Belgian troops came from the German medical society itself and the Hartmann Bund.

Dr. Filby in discussing the manifesto said he supposed that Americans, upon reading the declaration, "would think that the Germans were barbarians in making such a request."

"But we can assure you that this is not the case at all," continued the physician. "It is a fact that the majority of the German doctors would refuse to obey such a stupid request."

Probe Bank's Books as President Shoots Self

CHICAGO, March 10.—Doors of the Logan Square Trust & Savings bank were closed today under orders of the auditor of public accounts while investigators seek a motive for the suicide of Fred W. Popp, president of the institution, began an examination of the bank's books.

The bank president was found dead in his automobile on a country road leading out of Chicago. There was a bullet wound in his hand. His body was found against the steering wheel. A revolver lay on the floor nearby.

Cancelled checks to the value of $61,000 were found in the pocket of his coat. The checks were said to have been drawn by Paul W. Popp, a son of the dead man.

The bank was a sort of family affair, with two sons holding official positions. Paul W. Popp, Jr., was a director. Popp, senior, was 52 years old. He left a widow and three children.

She says they have opened up some of the finest tracts in the world right here in Glendale and are makin' it possible for folks to build homes here right along. Mary says she would like to live in every one of these tracts. She says these men are workin' for themselves, of course, but they are benefitin' other individuals and the city, too.

Ether Fumes Fill Subway Train and 60 People Sleep

NEW YORK, March 10.—Ether fumes, escaping from a can of the drug carelessly carried in a youth's back pocket affected sixty passengers in a subway train early today—some of them slumping to the floor, unconscious—resulted in a wild panic among other passengers and brought out the police reserves.

The crowded train was nearing the Ninety-six street station when a peculiar odor wafting through the cars caused the passengers to become faint and wobbly. Many of them, including women, collapsed. Others became panic-stricken. A detective discovered the fumes were coming from an ether can carried by Richard Chanarro, 22. When the train pulled into the station there was a mad rush from the cars.

Police reserves were called to restore order. Ambulances were summoned to care for those badly affected. Chanarro was arrested, charged with carrying narcotics. He declared he was using the ether for a cold. Another can of the drug was also found on him.

WITNESSES IN MER ROUGE HEARINGS HASTEN TO MEXICAN BORDER

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
For International News Service
BASTROP, La., March 10.—An echo of the black mask terrorist rule in Morehouse parish which culminated in the murders of Warr Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, seven months ago, was revealed today in the flight of prominent parish citizens to a haven along the Mexico border on the Texas banks of the Rio Grande.

Two men, closely linked to the hooded mob investigations, have reached the border and were reported by their friends to have been driven from their parish homes by fear of lurking death. These were Carey Calhoun, a wealthy planter, and his younger brother, Laurie Calhoun, former deputy sheriff of Morehouse parish, who are now living at La Faria, Texas.

A half dozen other parish citizens, all of them named time and again and most of them state witnesses at the open hearing on the hooded mob murders, were also reported preparing to emigrate to the Mexican border. Their plans to leave the parish, it was said, were caused by fear of retaliations from friends of men whom they mentioned in testimony at the open hearing.

Tom Garwood Died by Own Pistol, Say Police

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Tom Garwood, the "old man of the underworld," killed himself when threatened with capture by the Santa Monica police last Monday to foil a plot of his outlaw pals, who hoped to cause his capture as a means of revenge, according to a new theory announced today.

This report is under investigation by Deputy Sheriff Dewar, who hopes to recover the underworld tipsters and the hidden motive which caused them to report Monday's projected robbery to the police.

A mysterious phone call was sent the police to Crescent Creamery, where Garwood and several members of his crime school had blown a safe.

Garwood was killed in the resultant fray. It was first thought he had been shot by an officer, but it was later found that a .32 calibre bullet from his own gun had inflicted the fatal wound.

Police Probe Youth's Story of Shot Wound

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Explanations offered by 15-year-old Jacob Pierce, concerning a serious self-inflicted bullet wound in his leg, were investigated today by Hollywood police. Pierce was found in Calhoun Pass road by a Hollywood man, to whom he told a story of having shot himself with a .38-caliber revolver while hunting.

TWENTY UNIT APARTMENT PLANNED

Building to Cost $38,688
And Contain Numerous
Modern Features

Artistic and modern accommodations are to be offered Glendale apartment residents and tourists in the twenty-unit apartment house to be erected by Frederick Reinecke of 532 West Broadway, at 121 South Kenwood street at a cost of $38,688. Ground will be broken for the building Monday.

Plans for the apartment building have been made by the General Construction Company and the construction work will be in charge of Warren Smith of the Smith Building Company. Plumbing is to be installed by the Standard Manufacturing Company.

Modern Features
Mr. Reinecke has spent much time and study in developing the plans for his building, which will combine artistic and practical features.

Each apartment will consist of a living room, kitchen, breakfast nook, bath and dressing room and will have hardwood floors throughout. Ten apartments will be finished in gray and ten in cream enamel. They will have disappearing beds, shower baths and built-in ice boxes. Besides the disappearing bed, each apartment will have a day bed.

The furnishings will cost approximately $10,000. All furnishings will be purchased from the Russell-Pierce Furniture Company.

Rooms Sound Proof
Plans call for baths and kitchens with built-in effects, each kitchen having an especially designed cabinet.

The breakfast nooks are to be different from the usual style, inasmuch as each room will be given by nine feet and furnished with Windsor table, and chairs instead of the built-in table and benches. Another feature of the apartments is that they will be sound proof.

Clews Fruitless in Hunt for Missing Boy

ALBANY, N. Y., March 10.—Every clue in the alleged kidnapping of 3-year-old Leopold Minkin, son of City Court Judge Leopold Minkin, by 29-year-old Mary Conkling, his nurse maid, has failed, and the mystery deepens hourly.

The child's mother is on the verge of prostration, and the father has not closed his eyes since his little son so mysteriously dropped out of sight Thursday afternoon.

Early today the police run down a clue leading to Bennington, Vt. The police believe that the arrival of Mrs. Louis Kohn and her 3-year-old son in Bennington last night gave rise to the reports that the abductor of the Albany child had been seen in the Vermont city.

Authorities are convinced that the kidnapping trail leads to Troy.

ST. LOUIS, March 10.—An appeal was made to the police here today to help in locating Rev. Father John A. Brankak, pastor of the Sacred Heart Catholic church of Virden, Ill., who has been missing since last Monday afternoon. It is feared the priest has met with foul play.

GETS ACTION ON MATERNITY BILL

Weller Secures Favorable Committee Report on Federal Measure

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Assemblyman Frank C. Weller succeeded in getting the Sheppard-Towner Maternity Act bill reported out favorably by the educational committee this week-end and it now goes to the ways and means committee to determine whether the state will match the federal government appropriation of $33,112.01 for welfare and hygienic work.

Dr. Ernest Dozier of Redding opposed the measure, saying it would only provide salaries for "nose-sticking busybodies." The American Medical Association opposes the measure, he claimed. Dr. Adelaide Brown of San Francisco replied it would provide instruction for prospective mothers in caring for their own health and that of their infants and would teach many women how to make baby clothes and do other things that even Dr. Dozier "doesn't know about."

Budget Foes Routed

Under the caption, "Gas Bombs Against a Stone Wall," the Sacramento Union editorially comments, "Three days spent by the legislature upon budget hearings have been sufficient to prove that the opposition to the governor's recommendations will be in need of artificial respiration before the session stands adjourned. To listen to the great shouts of rage and terrifying threats of calamities to come was to believe that the members were restless for the chance to swoop down upon the budget and carry the field before them. The inquiry thus far has been halting and hesitating."

All of which bears out the dispatch of Wednesday, telling of the utter futility of further fight. There is going to be a scrap for reappointment, however. Assemblyman Weller and others from the south today sent invitations to all interested to be on hand next Thursday for the assembly committee hearing on reappointment.

FRENCH IN CHARGE

BERLIN, March 10.—French troops occupied the Herne railroad station today, according to advices received here today.

CITY SCHOOL GROWTH IS OUTLINED

Mattison B. Jones, Speaker
At C. of C. Gathering, Urges Bond Issue

"In spite of the fact that the number of pupils in the Glendale schools has increased by 178 per cent during the past five years, the school facilities have only shown a growth of ninety-eight per cent in the same period," declared Mattison B. Jones in his address before the teachers of the local schools and the members of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce at the reception and party that were given for the school faculty in the Citizens' building last night.

"The issue of bonds in the amount of $500,000, as is proposed in the election to be held next Thursday, March 15," continued Mr. Jones, "will add an infinitesimal amount to the taxes that we are now called on to pay, even if the assessed valuation of Glendale property should remain the same as it was last year."

Increase in Value

"But since the last assessment was made this city has shown an increase in the value of its buildings alone of $6,000,000, as shown by the permits of last year, and already this year there have been permits issued for over $2,000,000, making a much greater assessed valuation on which to levy the taxes that will be required to meet the payments of interest and principal on these proposed bonds. Besides the growth locally, the additional territory that has been added to the Glendale school district brings more property on which to levy taxes, and this means a proportional reduction of the amount to be raised by Glendale property owners to retire these bonds."

Mr. Jones also spoke of the Sterling-Towner bill that has been introduced in congress, under the terms of which the government would appropriate $100,000,000 to aid education in this country, with the provision that the various states match the federal allotment with an equal amount, based on the budget requirements of the states. Of the amount so given by the government, and which would be administered entirely by the states themselves, twenty per cent would go to training teachers, 15 per cent to teaching physical education and health subjects, seven and one-half per cent to Americanization, seven and one-half per cent to the eradication of illiteracy, and the remaining fifty per cent to the increase of salaries for teachers.

Educator in Cabinet

The passage of this bill, Mr. Jones declared, means that the

Armour-Morris Packer Merger Is Completed

CHICAGO, March 10.—Final details in the $500,000,000 merger of Armour & Company and Morris & Company have been arranged and the merger now is an accomplished fact, it was reported today.

The merger, it is said, was completed at a conference held Friday at Jacksonville, Fla., between representatives of the two organizations, when an agreement was reached over the value to be placed on the Armour common stock in the transfer of holdings.

Of the $500,000,000 purchase price Morris & Company stockholders are to receive $10,000,000 in cash, $10,000,000 in preferred stock and a similar amount in common stock. The deal gives Morris & Company approximately $67 a share for its $29,000,000 of common stock.

The deal probably will be effective as of March 1.

President's Houseboat Reaches Palm Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 10.—The houseboat Pioneer, carrying the president and Mrs. Harding, and members of their party, arrived off this famous winter resort today after a cruise of twenty-five miles down the river during the forenoon.

The president abandoned his plans for golf at Hobe sound this morning at the last minute and decided to push on to Palm Beach. A brief halt was made at the sound.

A few members of the party went ashore and motored to the beach to relieve the monotony of the boat trip, but the Hardings remained aboard.

Sea of Oil Afire Burns Men, House And Delivery Truck

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Two men were burned, one of them seriously and not survive, and one residence and a dairy truck were completely destroyed early today when a burning sea of oil flooded the highway near Artesia, a suburb of Los Angeles.

The oil, which formed into a lake an acre in area and about six inches deep, had escaped from a four foot break in the pipe line of the Union Oil Company extending between Santa Fe Springs and Wilmington and caught fire when a truck of the Artesia Dairy Company attempted to cross it around it, according to reports from the scene.

The fire was extinguished when the oil line was cut off and the oil allowed to burn out, after an effort had been made to smother it with dirt. Property damage was estimated at $40,000.

NAME DELEGATES TO KIWANIS MEET

Glendale Representative to Attend Convention in Georgia Capital

The Kiwanis club of Glendale will send a representative delegation to the International Convention of Kiwanis in Atlanta, Ga., May 28 to 31, according to Secretary Don H. Webb. He stated that the Atlanta convention will be the most largely attended in the history of Kiwanis.

The entertainment feature of the Atlanta convention is being especially stressed in the invitation extended to Glendale Kiwanians, who are urged to see if "old-fashioned Southern hospitality" still lives up to its reputation.

A water carnival on the lake of one of Atlanta's principal country clubs, a Southern fried chicken dinner "with fixins" and a whole chicken for each of the thousands of visitors expected, and an elaborate musical revue, produced especially for the convention and called "Pleasant Days," are among the features planned. Kiwanis clubs from all over Georgia, with several from surrounding states, will join the Atlantans as hosts. Headquarters have already been opened in Atlanta by Kiwanis International.

Operation Revives Man Dead of Strangulation

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—Physicians of Southern California manifested great interest today in the amazing case of Edwin Baker, Hollywood, son of a state assemblyman, who "died" of strangulation and was revived by an operation and punctor.

The story, kept secret for weeks, was made public by friends of Baker and corroborated by the operating surgeon, Dr. H. J. Andrews.

According to Dr. Andrews, the man was strangled by an attack of edema of the larynx, a rare malady, and was actually dead for at least a minute. An immediate operation and the use of the punctor rushed to the scene by Hollywood police, restored life and enabled the man to return to work yesterday.

FOUR MORE DAYS FOR TAX RETURN

Failure to Report Income Before March 15th to Carry Penalty

There remain only four days within which to file your return and avoid penalties. All income tax returns must be in the office of the collector on or before midnight of March 15. The fact that a return is mailed on the 15th will not meet the requirements of the law. The collector has secured the services of twenty revenue agents in addition to his regular force of deputies, to assist taxpayers in making out income returns. However, in order that more individual attention may be given to each taxpayer, it is advised that returns be filed as early as possible. It will be impossible to render the best service to the public if taxpayers wait until the last day of the income tax rush before filing their returns.

Who Must Report
In order that there may be no misunderstanding as to who is liable for a return, the collector states that every single man whose net income is $1,000 or more, must file a return, regardless of the amount of personal exemption to which the individual is entitled.

Every married person living with husband and wife, whose net income is $2,000 or more, must file a return, regardless of the amount of personal exemption to which that individual is entitled.

Every individual whose gross income is $5,000 or more must file a return, regardless of the amount of net income.

File your return on or before March 15 and avoid penalties!

Church Builds Character

EVERY one acknowledges the truth of the old axiom, "A man is what he thinks." If there were no good thoughts there would be no good deeds. If no one had wrong thoughts there would be no evil deeds and earth would be paradise.

A writer has likened the mind of man to a garden. It may be cultivated intelligently, useful and beautiful vegetation planted and cared for and the weeds torn up and thrown away. Or it may be allowed to grow wild. The weeds may be permitted to crowd out the beautiful flowers and the nourishing fruits. But, like a garden, man's mind will bring forth something. If nothing useful or beautiful is planted the weeds will spring up and flourish, seed themselves and produce their kind in great abundance year after year until there is no room left for vegetables or flowers or fruits.

By cultivating right thoughts man becomes more noble. When he abuses his intellect by harboring wrong thoughts he lowers himself mentally and morally and perhaps physically.

You have seen men and women who were almost God-like in character, who speak no evil and do only good deeds. They have not become so by chance. They have cultivated right thoughts and this godlikeness has grown from an intelligent cultivation of the mind. Men and women who think good and pure thoughts do not speak and do evil. You do not envy men and women whose conduct is the result of evil thinking.

The church is an institution that is endeavoring to plant good thoughts in the minds of the people. You can think good thoughts without going to church, but unless you are utterly depraved you cannot go to church without thinking good thoughts. The church safeguards the community by helping to cultivate the right kind of thinking and thus build character.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

JUST A DEBT
How often one hears people of the younger generation who are contributing to the support of the old folks in the family speak of their contributions as of some very heavy burden.

Sometimes they pride themselves on doing so much. Again they speak resentfully of what they have to do. And even when the children themselves do not look upon their contributions as anything out of the ordinary the in-laws are pretty sure to have that point of view.

And in many cases the old folks are expected to be constantly expressing their gratitude and to be ready to get along on as little as possible, even if the younger folks live in comparative luxury.

Of course the children when they were young expressed their gratitude every day for the fact that they were receiving food and clothes and shelter from their parents.

Of course they tried to get along on as little as possible even if their parents could afford plenty of luxuries for themselves!

Here's An Optimist!
Suppose it costs $200 a year to bring up a child. That is Uncle Sam's optimistic way of looking at it. Plainly all his experience has been in the capacity of an uncle rather than a father if that's

Tropico Presbyterian Church Welcomes Additions to Congregation

The reception tendered the new members of the Tropico Presbyterian church, last night at the social hall of the church was most cordial as an expression of welcome and fellowship.

The affair was in charge of the Women's Bible class and the delightful program was arranged by Mrs. S. S. Gilhilly, chairman of the social committee of the class, and Mrs. H. B. Goldsborough.

The hall was made very attractive with flags and bouquets of sweet peas and other spring flowers.

ANSWERED LETTERS
Answer: You will see them in this column next Thursday—March 15th. Watch for them.

A Reader: "Have you any crocheted or knitting directions for dolls' clothes?"

Answer: Yes, and I will publish some of them next Thursday. Housewife: "Have you a recipe for cream candy in which mashed potatoes are used?"

Answer: I am sorry to say I have not. But if I ever come across such a recipe I will most surely publish it in this column.

E. K. C.: "What can be done to keep linoleum from getting soiled so easily. Would varnish be the proper thing to use? Also what can be done with a stairway which I paint with white paint twice a year. I do not wish to carpet it."

Answer: Shellac your linoleum. For the stairway you might try varnishing with a white, unstained varnish, right over a dry, new coat of white paint. A spar varnish wears best and can be washed without the danger of its coming off.

A Grateful Reader: "Is there any way to shrink a white wool crocheted tam, I have tried boiling it but that does no good. Kindly give a recipe for Devil Food Cake."

Answer: Try soaking it for a long while in clear water—several days. I think that will do it. Here is the recipe for white Devils Food Cake: Cream together one-half cup of butter and one and one-half cups of sugar; add four unbeaten egg-yolks, well beaten, and four squares of unsweetened chocolate melted and blended with five tablespoons of hot water. Now sift together one and three-fourths cups of pastry flour (or ordinary flour may be used if two tablespoons of cornstarch be added to each cup) and two tablespoons of baking powder and a pinch of salt. Add this dry mixture to the bowl alternately with one-half cup of sweet milk. Flavor with one teaspoon of vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs. Bake 40 minutes in a loaf-cake pan in a moderate oven (or in two layer cake pans in a hot oven for 30 minutes). Frost with a chocolate, then with a white frosting (on top of the chocolate). If made as a layer cake, put only a fudge frosting between the layers.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in the next issue. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

AN EARLY SPRING DIET

For some time, I am sure, you have been thinking of spring clothes, and perhaps if you live in a warm part of the country even wearing spring clothes. But have you thought of springtime foods?

Not long ago I talked about the old-fashioned grand mother spring tonic of sulphur and molasses to thin the blood and clear the complexion. There is dandelion tea also, a bitter concoction brewed at this season, or perhaps a little later if the spring is long in coming, from the roots of the otherwise agreeable dandelion. It tastes so horrible that I hate to think or write about it. But dandelion salad is quite different. You should eat a big dish of it every day, made of the tender, light green inside leaves of the dandelion covered thickly with boiled dressing, which for this tastes better than mayonnaise. This is a pungent, delicious salad which will thin and purify the blood and clear your skin at the same time.

There are other foods you should be eating now, tender little onions with the outside part removed and only the heart boiled and served in cream sauce. These have little or no odor; fried onions are as beneficial but much stronger.

Asparagus will be coming into the market soon, delicious and very good for you, and spinach or some of the numerous varieties of greens we have with us all the year 'round. Some form of this vegetable should be eaten frequently. Thanks to greenhouses, plain or curled lettuce, or endive can be had rather cheaply at any time. Some leaves should be eaten every day either with fruit or with some of the season's vegetables.

Last year's beets pickled with vinegar can be chopped in cubes and mixed with green vegetables or even chopped lettuce for a good looking salad.

A. C. D. C.—As you are only five pounds overweight you can easily rid yourself of that excess amount by eating a little less than usual, or eating less of the starchy foods and substituting for them more acid fruit and green vegetables. This improvement in your diet will improve your skin and probably rid you of this tendency to a red nose.

Auburn—You are evidently run down and in need of something more than olive oil to build up your weight. Have your doctor give you a careful examination and prescribe for you the exact things that your system needs. In your condition, sleep, rest and plenty of fresh air will mean more to you than exercise, although a moderate amount of this is necessary.

I. M. Hopful—Any druggist will make up the hair tonic for you. Send a s. s. a. e. and I will mail you the formula for the tonic you mention. Hair grows about eight inches a year on an average.

Diet and Health

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS
"Dear Doctor:

"Last spring I weighed 150 pounds and I was gaining gradually although I am not a large eater. The wrong things were my favorite dishes. From following your instructions I have lost 22 pounds and feel perfectly well."

"I can count 50 people who got your book on my recommendation. As I am on the stage it is quite necessary that I do not eat any more than I need. I have been counting my calories ever since and have kept my weight the same.—G. R."

The instructions you followed are the same that I am giving my newspaper followers. I am simply teaching a little of the elements of dietetics. (Those of you who missed the instructions can have them by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 4 cents in stamps to me in care of this paper. But they cannot be sent unless you address your own envelope!)

I am glad that you are keeping your weight normal and that you are still continuing to watch it. We all have to do that. The same errors that produced overweight in the first place will produce it again if they are committed again.

After one gets to normal weight it is not necessary to count calories as carefully as while reducing, but by the time normal weight is reached many of the tastes for concentrated foods have been lost, and then it is not difficult to keep normal.

Miss H.—It is perfectly normal for one breast to be a little larger than the other. If one of your breasts is very much larger than the other and is continuing to grow, then the condition is not normal.

Where there is a great increase in the size of one or both breasts it is thought that there is some disturbance of the ovarian internal secretions. There are only a few instances of this mentioned in the medical literature. Apparently, it is rather a rare condition.

In the histories given, in some of the cases it was found that after a few years there was a gradual shrinking and a return to normal. And the consensus of opinion of the doctors who wrote their cases, was that a reasonable length of time for this to happen should be allowed.

This type of overgrowth of the breasts has nothing in common with the deposit of fat and the enormous breasts which will develop when there is general adiposity; nor is it like a tumor of the breast.

See your family physician, dear. The over-development of one or both breasts is not dangerous apparently. In the cases I read about, there was not a gradual return to normal and the patients had to be operated upon, there were no fatalities and no after bad effects.

Write me again?
Mrs. X.—The pretty so-called violet-ray electric lights that you see in shop windows do not produce ultra-violet rays that are used in the treatment of rickets and tuberculosis and other disorders. Dr. Alfred Hess of New York tells me they have been tested and are of no value beyond the value of an ordinary electric light.

The violet ray lamp used in sanitariums are called ultra violet ray lamps and they give a colorless, heatless flame with no visible violet color. The rays are produced by a quartz-mercury combination.

Mrs. D.—Certainly you can gain in weight. We are having a great number of encouraging responses from those who are following our instructions. Send the s. s. a. e. and four cents in stamps and you may have them.

Youth Packs Hardware In Call on Sweetheart

he will leave his "arsenal" at home. The 23-year-old youth vouchsafed this remark shortly after he had paid a $200 fine to Leavenworth authorities, imposed because Graham was carrying concealed weapons.

The "bold" lover said he had left his home here to visit his fiancee at Leavenworth and had come "prepared" because a rival there had threatened to "get him."
It was while returning that the youth met his nemesis, in the form of a blue-coated law en-blackjack he was carrying fell to the floor of a street car. A search at headquarters revealed two revolvers and a razor.

Shrine Club Backs Miss Marie Oliver For Pageant Queen

MARIE OLIVER

Marie Oliver, 1314 North Central avenue, has announced her intention to enter her name as a candidate in the contest for Queen of the Pageant in connection with the Merchants' Industrial Exposition and Automobile Show that is to be held here from May 25 to June 3, and she has been assured the undivided support of the membership of the Shrine club, who have declared themselves behind her to a man. Members of the club have expressed their intention to use every effort in their power to elect Miss Oliver to the honor she seeks and for which they declare she is abundantly fitted.
The candidate is a native of Glendale and a graduate of the local schools. She has devoted much of her time to musical activities here, and was recently one of the big hits in the Shrine club's play, "Smile Again," which was given at the T. D. & L. Theatre.
She has also been active in social circles in Glendale, and her many friends are confident that they will be able to return her at the head of the poll when the votes are counted.

KIWANIS MEMBERS HEAR NEW SONGS

Local Members Rehearse for Approaching Ceremony At Hollywood

The Glendale Kiwanis yelled lustily and sang with a will, at their weekly luncheon yesterday in the Citizens' building, the occasion being a rehearsal for the forthcoming presentation of the new Hollywood chapter with its charter.

"Who raises chickens
And feeds 'em on beans?
Who raises the beautiful movie queens?
They do! They do! Hollywood!"

So they yelled, and more so.
Indeed, Hollywood doubtless got an advance earful, the way the echoes carried.

And when it came to singing, they didn't lose any. "When Johnny Come Marching Home," "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and other favorites, all brightly furnished up in nice new lyric jackets, were the vehicles for a lot of harmony that, if not classical was at least loud. Anyway, "a good time was had by all."

Two Resolutions
This burst of exuberance was preceded by the regular business session, conducted during the luncheon, at which several matters of routine business were put through and two important resolutions unanimously adopted.

The first of these resolutions, moved following a report from the public affairs committee, was an endorsement of the $500,000 school bond issue up for vote at the election of March 15.

The second, moved following an explanation by Jesse E. Smith of his bill 242 now before the state legislature would work, authorized the Glendale Kiwanis club to telegraph Assemblyman Frank C. Weiler expressing its disapproval of this bill and requesting that it be withdrawn.

Bill 262 provides that all lease or conditional contracts be recorded. As many automobiles are bought, sold and traded on such contracts, Mr. Smith as an automobile classification Kiwan-ian, is one of those vitally concerned and has made it his business to study the bill carefully.
He stated that were such a bill to become a law of the state, the automobile business would be crippled and the county record-ers' offices swamped.

Hamper Car Sales
"The result to the public would be that cars practically could not be traded, and that their purchase or sale would be greatly hampered," Mr. Smith said, "as this bill would necessitate the paper on each car being placed in escrow. No brokers now handling automobile paper would continue to handle it on that basis."

Numerous announcements were made at yesterday's meeting, chief of which was that the special train for the International Kiwanis convention in Atlanta, May 28 to 31, will leave Los Angeles May 23, with a one-day stop-over at the Grand Canyon.

Juvenile Program

There was considerable talent shown yesterday afternoon by those taking part in the juvenile musical program of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, which met at the home of Mrs. Joseph Marple, 215 West Palmer avenue. There were about forty guests present and all greatly enjoyed each number of the following program, which had been arranged by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mrs. O. E. Von Oven and Mrs. Vail.

ing, "Dear Old Pal of Mine," accompanied by Mrs. N. L. Hagood; harp

On March 22nd, a program of unusual interest will be presented, for the benefit of the piano fund. On the program the following artists will appear, Flora Myers Engel, dramatic and lyric soprano, Brahm Van Den Berg, pianist, Calmon Luboviski, violinist.

Surprise Affair

Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Barr of 706 East Harvard street were surprised last night when twenty members of the newly organized Broadway Methodist church south decided upon their home and showed them with an old fashioned "surprise" party. The donors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Watts of 822 East Harvard street, and from there proceeded in a body to the new parsonage, and without being announced, opened the door and placed a bountiful supply of "good things to eat" on the table.

On behalf of the church J. N.
McGillis made the presentation speech, to which both Rev. and Mrs. Barr responded, expressing their appreciation. Articles donated consisted of about every thing carried in a first class grocery store from matches to flour, home-canned fruits, dressed chicken and fresh eggs. The parsonage has just recently been purchased and furnished, the pastor and family moving in on Wednesday of this week.

Honor President

Mrs. Daniel Campbell, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, is to be complimented guest at the St. Patrick's day luncheon, Saturday, March 17, at the new club house with the Non-Section women as hostesses. Mrs. Campbell is a native of Ireland so that the compliment will be most fitting and will also express the appreciation of the club members for her devoted work for the club.

At the meeting of Non-Section members yesterday afternoon at the A. H. Montgomery home at 415 South Central avenue, final plans were made for the luncheon. Mrs.
Thomas G. Widmeyer and Mrs. J.
H. Searles were appointed captains of two divisions carrying out plans for the event. All tickets for the luncheon have been sold.

The Non-Section women are also planning two big affairs, which they are to give for two prominent local organizations, and detailed plans will be announced at an early date.

Luncheon Hostess

At a very charming luncheon, given by Miss Tamson Johnson, of 261 West Doran street, this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Yost, just before removing from their home, 839 West Hill street, Eagle Rock, Miss Marjorie Childs of Marlborough school was the emplimented guest. Miss Johnson and Miss Childs are classmates at the Bishops school at La Jolla
last year.

The table was most attractively decorated in a yellow color scheme, carried out with daffodils and other spring flowers.
Games of unco were the amusement of the afternoon.

Those honoring Miss Childs were Miss Cecil Chase, Miss Rebecca Dodge, Miss Beulah Dunbar, Miss Eloise Truitt, Miss Marylyn Manbert and the hostess, Miss Tamson Johnson.

trip should make their reservations immediately, to the secretary of the club.

Past President Lyman P. Clark was appointed official delegate to the Atlanta convention, with Fred Deal as alternate.

The "Bachelors' Club" presented Jesse E. Smith with a beautiful silver napkin-ring for Jesse.
Jr., while Ed Radke tendered Police Chief John D. Fraser a small and shiny alarm-clock of popular brand, as an award for record attendance.

It was announced that G. J. Lyons had been admitted as a member to the club.
Jesse E. Smith presented each member and guest with a pair of Glendale auto plates.

Dance a Success

The Rebekah dance last night in the Odd Fellows' hall was a travelling success, socially and financially, because the amount of money realized for the benefit of the I. O. O. F. orphans' home at Gilroy was in excess of expectations.

Numerous beautiful prizes, donated by local merchants and awarded the best and luckiest dancers, went far toward making the occasion the vivid and delightful time it was.

Pendroy's donated a toilet set,
Jensen's a bottle of toilet extract,
Robinsons Men's Shop a bill-fold, Hatz' an afternoon apron, Wol-cott's Beauty Shop a box of imported powder, Matthews' furnished candy, and John Strother five pound box of candy.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Webb won the prize waltz, Miss Pearl Jones and escort the fox trot, and "Mystery" won the "bug dance."
Prizes for spot dances were won by Mrs. J. D. Hall, Mrs. Marjorie Pease and others.

Mrs. Loretta Schwitters, president of the Glendale Rebekahs, wishes on behalf of the lodge to thank the local merchants for their splendid donations.

It was announced at last night's dance that the Rebekahs are planning a "Fashion Show" for some time in May, to be staged through the courtesy of the Walcott Beauty shop. This show will present, among other novelties, a revue of the various modes of hair dressing that have held sway down through the centuries, from Tut's time to ours.

Birthday Surprise

Albert C. Oliver of 1731 Fourth street, in Fairview, was happily surprised Thursday night when he arrived at home, opened the door and turned on the lights, to find a number of his intimate friends assembled to celebrate his fiftieth birthday anniversary. A jolly evening ensued, and refreshments of ice cream and a delicious birthday cake were enjoyed.

Those participating were Mr.
and Mrs. A. Hershey of La Crescenta, Mrs. A. P. Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. Acton, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Haddell and little daughter Alva,
Mr. and Mrs. John Sherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver. The honoree was the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts and flowers.

A vocal selection, "Birthday Greetings," rendered beautifully by Mrs. Sherwood, as the birthday cake was brought in, was among the very pleasant features of the evening's enjoyment.

Entertain Guest

Glendale Eastern Star chapter enjoyed their annual meeting last night with Mrs. Flora Virginia Goss, district deputy grand matron, of Garvanza, as honored guest at the banquet at 6:30 o'clock and the lodge meeting following. Mrs. Goss was accompanied by her husband, who is past patron of the Garvanza Eastern Star.

Over 125 lodge members and guests were gathered around the banquet tables.

During the meeting hour all the lodge work was inspected by Mrs.
Goss. Among those present were several matrons and patrons of neighboring chapters.

St. Patrick Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Frampton of 215 Arden avenue entertained last evening a number of Los Angeles friends with a St. Patrick's party. There were twenty present and all fellow employees of Mr. Frampton.

INDUCTIVELY COUPLED RECEIVERS

The connection in this set is similar in its action to the direct coupled arrangement described in a recent article. In either case, on account of the coupling between primary and secondary coils, there are reactions of each coil upon the other, with the consequent double oscillations when the coils are near together. It is found, however, that if the resistance of the circuits is low, by varying the coupling, extremely sharp tuning is possible. The antenna is tuned to the incoming waves, by changes of the inductance L₁, as shown in the diagram. If very sharp tuning is desired, and it generally is, a variable condenser is shunted around L₁ and fine adjustments are made therewith. The secondary is tuned to the primary, the operations of tuning being done alternately until the telephone gives the best response. In the secondary the coarser tuning is done by varying the inductance L₂ and the finer tuning with the variable condenser C₂.

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

TODAY—"Modern Forty-Niners" still trek to California, usually by flier nowadays, en route and continuing to live in the open after they get there, writes William G. Cayce, Los Angeles correspondent.

MONDAY—The applause commonly accorded to a former Boston dentist for having discovered ether, the anaesthetic, is to be vigorously disputed by Atlanta, one of whose physicians is declared to be the "real discoverer," writes H. C. Hamilton, Atlanta correspondent.

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
For International News Service

LOS ANGELES, March 10.—The spirit of the "Days of '49," which made California famous and which was immortalized by California, has not been lost since the gold-rushing days to the West. It is evidenced in every place, large and small, in Southern California.

As a striking example of the modern "forty-niner," traveling across the country on wheels, and sleeping wherever he might be, two mothers and their children were found in Lincoln Park here.

The two families—one from Arizona and the other from Texas—were found in Lincoln Park here. The families are neighbors in the park, and on rainy days the children all gather in a tiny and crudely constructed house. It fairly bulges with its human contents.

The house was built principally of parts of old movie "sets" used on a motion picture "lot" not far away. It measures approximately 12 by 14 feet and houses one family of seven members, while the other family, except in bad weather, lives in its tents.

The "dads" of the two families earn their livelihood by picking up odd jobs here and there. One of the families, by the name of Lawson, comes from Dallas, Texas, while the other, named Jones, hails from Globe, Arizona. There are five children in each family.

Work in the small Arizona mining town where the Joneses lived was slow, so they drove over in the family flier, which plays the role of a hostile fort, a ship at sea, or a prairie schooner attacked by Indians for the children and makes part of the clothes line when Mrs. Jones does the family laundry.

Just across the way from the Jones and Lawson families are Jake Polo and his wife and their little daughter, Martha, basking in the Southern California sunshine, after some cold weather in their home town of Fredericks, North Dakota.

A casual stroll through the park and one gets a fair idea of how many people still come "overland" to California and still camp out in the open after their arrival as they did while en route. There are now about 700 in the auto camp here now. From the license plates, the Middle West States have done their share in sending immigrants to California, particularly the States of Oklahoma, the Dakotas, Colorado and northern Michigan are well represented. The New England States also furnish a good quota to the "tent city."

True, for some, with large families and not much ready cash, the trip to "Sunny Southern California" is not made without sacrifice and making every cent go as far as possible. But, as one remarked, it is the goal that pushes them on and away from parts of the country where industry and trade have been more or less throttled.

The camp in Lincoln Park is one of hundreds throughout Southern California. Even the smallest hamlet boasts of its "Auto Camp Ground."

Large signposts along every highway leading into cities and towns chronicle to the tourist about the public camping ground, with minute directions of how it can be reached.

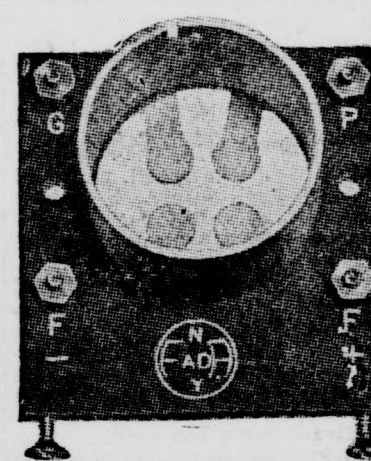

It is the camp life in the open that lays the foundation for the fortune of the modern "forty-niners."

Union Pacific Gives Special Rates to Church Meet And Stock Show

U. S. Treasury Redeems $585 in Burned Bills

Relative to the annual Inter-Mountain Stock show and the annual Mormon conference, both to be held in Salt Lake City in April, the Union Pacific railroad system announces through its general passenger agent, T. C. Peck, that a special round-trip excursion fare will be in effect from all stations in California, to Salt Lake City and return, with tickets on sale March 31 to April 6, inclusive—return limit April 29—the price one and one-half fares for the round trip.

ASTORIA, Ore., March 10.—Ashes found in the corner of his safe—all that remained of a roll of currency aggregating $600 following the recent conflagration here—brought Dr. E. Nelson Neulen $585 from the government. He was ready to throw them away when a safe expert advised him to send the ashes to the treasury department. Federal experts identified all but three $5 bills and asked if Dr. Neulen would be willing to settle on a basis of $585. He will no doubt want to take advantage of the low excursion fare to attend.

THEATRES

The GLENDALE

The T. D. & L.

The headliner on the fine vaudeville bill at the Glendale Theatre today is the two Daveys' sensational juggling and original dialogue act. Widner & Wells offer "Music As We Saw It," containing that harmonious manipulation of an ordinary carpenter's saw. Crystal & Anderson appear in "Comedy de Luxe." Joe Deming is a comedian who never fails to please with his talky stuff. "An Artist's Dream," described as a mythical song and dance revue, completes this entertaining bill.

The film feature today is a Universal release featuring Herbert Rawlinson. Starting tomorrow (Sunday), Tom Mix's fine film, "Just Tony," comes to the Glendale Theatre—a story of his wonderful horse, Tony.

"Missing Millions," the Paramount feature with Alice Brady, shown at the T. D. & L. Theatre the last time today. This is a crook melodrama par excellence, and should not be missed by lovers of the exciting and mysterious. When Paramount undertakes to produce anything, it does it right, and the present film is no exception. Lavish settings, a capable supporting cast and every little detail worked out like a cameo—that is what Director Joseph Henabery has achieved in the way of artistry. Starting tomorrow (Sunday), Marshall Neilan's spectacular production, "Minnie," comes to the T. D. & L. Theatre.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE POP CORN

"What have you there, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane one afternoon when she saw the bunny gentleman hopping up the front steps of his hollow stump bungalow.

"I have a corn popper and some ears of the kind of corn that pops when you shell it off and shake it over the fire," answered the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Then you must be going to spend the evening at home and pop corn," said Nurse Jane.

"I am," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"That will be very nice," went on Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "But it's a pity you haven't some company coming in to enjoy the popcorn you're going to make."

"Oh, Grandpa Goosey Gander is coming over," said Uncle Wiggily, and I have also invited Uncle Butter, the goat. We'll have a good time together."

"I'm sure of it—when you three old cronies get together," laughed Nurse Jane. "Are you going to have buttered or sugared popcorn?"

"Both kinds," answered the rabbit gentleman.

That evening Uncle Butter, the goat, and Grandfather Goosey Gander, the gentleman goose, called at the hollow stump bungalow, which was all lighted up for company. And as it happened, the Bob Cat was passing along, on his way home, hungry and tired after having searched all day for something to eat.

"Ah, ha!" snickered the Bob Cat to himself. "Uncle Wiggily is going to have company. This will be a good chance for me to get in his hollow stump bungalow and nibble his ears for my supper. Let me see, now, how shall I get in? I know! I'll go down the chimney in the open fireplace. Uncle Wiggily hardly ever has a fire on the hearth and I can slip down the chimney as easily as Santa Claus. I'll do it!"

Knowing nothing of what the Bob Cat was planning, Uncle Wiggily with Grandpa Goosey and Uncle Butter, got ready to have fun popping the corn. Uncle Wiggily shelled off the pointed kernels, dropped them into the wire popper and was about to shake them over the kitchen fire in the stove when Uncle Butter said:

"Haven't you an open fireplace, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Why, yes," answered the bunny. "I have, but—"

"Oh, I think it's ever so much more fun to pop corn over an open fire!" quacked Grandpa Goosey. "It's so much more romantic and reminds me of the time when I was a boy goose."

"That's right!" bleated Uncle Butter.

"All right, I'll build a fire on the hearth and we'll pop the corn in there," said Uncle Wiggily.

And, just as the Bob Cat started to climb down the chimney, having scrambled up to the roof of the hollow stump bungalow—just then Uncle Wiggily started the fire on the hearth. Hotter and hotter it blazed, and when the embers were red the corn began to pop.

The Bob Cat up in the chimney felt the heat of the blaze. "This is queer!" he thought. "He oughtn't to have made a fire on the hearth. I wonder—Ouch! Oh, wow! This is too much for me!"

The Bob Cat tried to climb back up the chimney to jump out, but he slipped and fell down the fire place into the room where Uncle Wiggily was popping the corn.

"What's this! An intruder!" bleated Uncle Butter. "Out you

"What's this?" bleated Uncle Butter.

the friends and Nurse Jane ate buttered and sugared popcorn until they had enough, and it was a very pleasant evening—except for the Bob Cat.

And if the spool of thread doesn't try to read the paper of pins, thinking it had a bedtime story in it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the maple sugar.

The offer was made to Hughes, who refused it, Upshaw declared. It then was made to Chief Justice Taft, who also refused it, Upshaw continued.

"In view of these circumstances," the congressman said, "it is necessary for the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Anti-Saloon league to unite in combatting wet propaganda."

Flood of Legislation At Capital Affecting Motorist

MANY HEAR CALL OF OPEN SPACES

Big Touring Season Is in Prospect; Requests for Highway Facts

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—Numerous requests for road information, even this far in advance of spring, emphasize the fact that motorists of the United States are eagerly looking forward to the biggest touring season yet known. Just as the trend of travel has been to the south for several months, so it will now turn toward the west and north, according to information from the National Motorists' association.

The national parks of the country, which were visited by 1,200,000 persons in 1922, probably two-thirds of whom were motorists, are expected to be the magnet which will draw hundreds of thousands of tourists this year.

Special Information

Equal interest also, so far as extended trips are concerned, is expected to be shown in the New England states and Canada. Special touring information, both local and long-distance, and 1923 strip maps, each covering the routing for a different trip, will be available for distribution through the N. M. A. and affiliated clubs. These strip maps are of such shape and size as to permit the driver of a car to hold them conveniently in the hand while at the wheel, or they may be slipped easily into a pocket.

Still another feature of keen interest to motorists everywhere in this country has to do with the steps taken to do away with the impossible situation which has existed between the state of Maryland and the District of Columbia as to reciprocity.

Barrier May Go

The removal of this barrier now seems assured under legislation to be enacted before March 4, and effective Jan. 1, 1924, following action in approval thereof by the governor of Maryland. The national capital division of the N. M. A. was a leader in paving the way for this legislation, through the crystallization of the sentiment back of it in the district and in Maryland. Fortunately the automobile club of Maryland, which embraces the state, is affiliated with the N. M. A. and this therefore made it possible to more easily to bring the conflicting interests together.

EMERGENCY PATCH

Canvas makes an excellent substitute for a blow-out patch. Carry a piece large enough to extend outside, so that it will be caught and held by the rim. The size will depend on the size of the tire. Fold it double when using it. But do not neglect to use the tire sleeve as well.

YOU BELIEVE, IN SIGNS, EH?

Auto Club Sure That Great Many People Do

THE PICTURE shows Manager O. W. Lewis of the touring bureau (left), and Manager D. C. Rhodes of the sign-posting department (right), of the Automobile Club of Southern California, in the scout car in which they made their recent remapping trip over the National Old Trails and Lincoln highways.

Lewis and Allen went via Reno, Salt Lake, Cheyenne and Omaha, returning by way of Kansas City, Albuquerque, Needles and Barstow. As a result of their tour, two Automobile club motor trucks are proceeding over these highways, installing thousands of signs bearing the arrow and "Southern California—Straight Ahead."

Some idea of the value of this sign-posting may be gained, states Manager M. B. Towman of the Glendale office, by considering the fact that in 1922 over 87,000 automobiles entered California. It has been estimated that these tourists spent $100,000,000 here. What is the answer? Better sign-posting and more tourists.

Ease in Handling of Car Great Feature

When buying a new car it is valuable to consider the ease of handling and driving the machine. Note the convenience of the control pedals and brake and gear levers. A large person may find the pedals in the way, and the hands or knees may touch the dash-cowl or scrape the side of the body when changing gears or using the brakes, and the right arm may be uncomfortable.

Straighten Out Kinks In Highway System

REDLANDS, March 10.—Redlands is slowly but surely straightening out the motor-road entrances and exits to the city, so that the driver unacquainted with the city will have no trouble in finding his way in and out soon. There have been but two bad places for some time. One of these was the Yucaipa and Ocean-to-Ocean highway. Now the road will be made easy to find because of the extension of Beacon street through the orange grove to connect with Roosevelt, making a broad and unmistakable highway with only one turn.

State street, the main business street of the city, having no west-outlet, has caused some trouble. Plans are to make a broad turn at the Elks' club and sign this in such a way that motorists can travel a half block and be on Citrus avenue, which leads into Brookside avenue and then out of the city and over the best-known highway.

These roads are all to be paved and put in the best kind of condition so that people who come in and out of Redlands will find the roads inside the city just as good as those of the country.

LUXURY BUS LINE ON APACHE TRAIL

New Passenger Autos Have Every Convenience of Pullman Cars

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 10.—Automobile passenger transportation passed into a new era in Arizona this week when two nineteen-passenger buses, were delivered to a local transportation company for service between Phoenix and the Globe-Miami mining districts. More excitement was caused here when the new coaches, the last word in the automobile industry, paraded through the streets than when the first airplane passed over Phoenix only a few years back.

The massive cars, beautiful in design and built to stand the demands of passenger service over the mountainous Arizona roads, rolled along the streets, responding readily to the will of their drivers, as thousands of natives and health seekers from all over the United States gasped in wonderment.

Easily Controlled

B. H. McAhren, manager of the transportation company, demonstrated the easy control, power and comfort of the new buses, driving over rough dirt roads and unpaved highways. The finest Pullmans do not ride with any more comfort than the new coaches that will be put into service between this city and the Globe-Miami mining district.

Nothing has been overlooked in the mechanical and construction design of the new cars to make auto travel, which has gained great popularity in this district in the last five years, a real pleasure. Electrically lighted through-out, automatic signal devices, powerful headlights, automatic governor to regulate the speed of the engine, hot and cold controls—are all manipulated from the driver's seat, which is set apart from the passenger compartments.

Separate Compartments

One section of the coach is partitioned off for ladies, and a smoking room for men is in the rear. Large, roomy seats in each compartment give the bus every appearance of a massive railroad Pullman. Heaters are in each compartment for winter use, and ventilators on the roof, regulated by the driver, assure passengers' comfort in the summer.

McAhren has regulated the governors of the four-cylinder engine, which develops 50 horsepower, to a speed of 30 miles per hour, insuring comfortable riding.

The new buses will eliminate the rough stagecoach trip between the Salt river valley of Phoenix and the mining camps of Globe and Miami.

Ignace Jan Paderewski, noted pianist, and a group of eastern capitalists, who have been visiting Roosevelt dam and the Salt river valley of Arizona, were the guests of McAhren on a trip over the famous Apache trail in the new buses, and expressed keen delight at the easy riding and the scenic beauty of the mountain roads.

Tut's Wheels Reveal Modern Plan, Claim

CHICAGO, March 10.—The sensational find of a number of richly ornamented, gold-tipped chariot wheels in the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen at Luxor, Egypt, has sharply revived scientific interest in the origin and development of wheels of modern type. Expert scrutiny reveals remarkably up-to-date design and construction in the wheels that carried Egypt's pharaohs in battle, states one of the country's foremost authorities, C. C. Carlton, secretary of a motor wheel corporation of Lansing, Michigan.

"The hub, spoke and rim construction of the wheels used by King Tut-Ankh-Amen show surprising grace of outline, combined with extraordinary strength. Built for the violent exigencies of warfare, they had to be extremely light, for speed, as well as tremendously strong, to withstand the shock of collision and maneuvering over rough terrain."

"Notable also is the excessive length of the hubs and their narrow diameter, perhaps calculated to reduce friction and to enable the holding of proper alignment."

In the bronze used for spindles and bearings the Egyptians possessed a bearing metal that modern metallurgy has never been able to duplicate. The unique process that gave this metal its marvelous hardness and wearing quality ranks with the lost arts, perhaps never to be rediscovered.

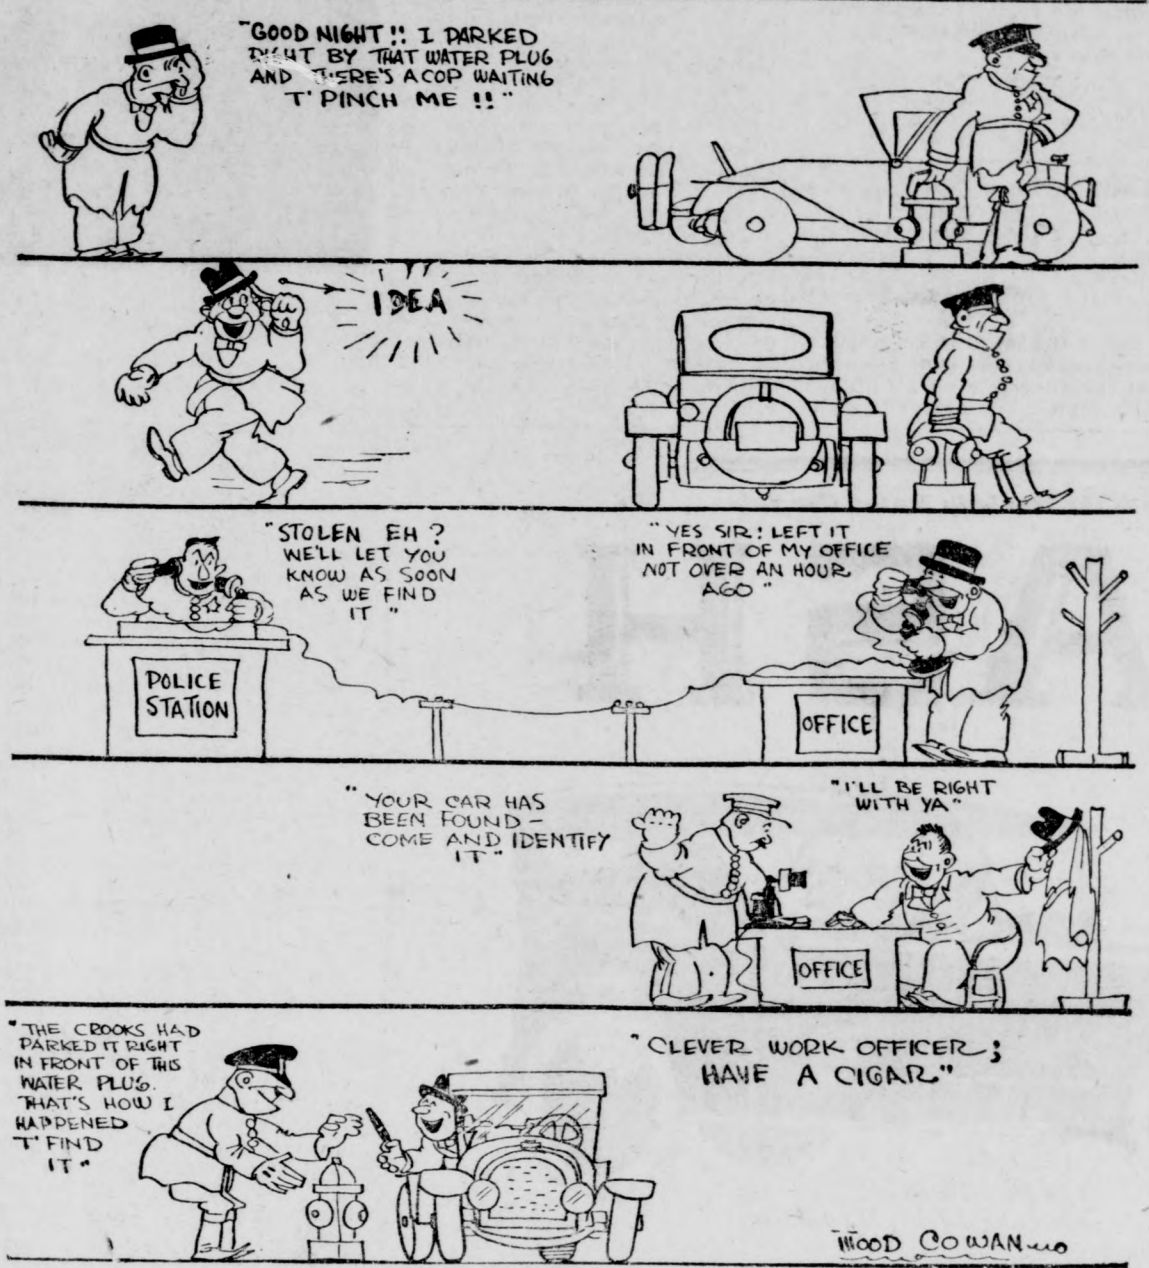

Equally as amazing as the structural soundness of the wheels unearthed at Luxor is the richness of their ornamentation. Imagine the wealth of a dynasty that enabled the use of solid gold for tires.

INCREASED MILEAGE

It is estimated that by careful driving a motorist can increase the mileage of tires more than 50 per cent.

KEEP ROAD CLEAR AT FRUIT STANDS

Serious Crashes Sometimes Occur; Illegal to Halt Motor in Highway

At this time of the year the wayside shrines sacred to King Vegetable are attracting hundreds of devotees every day. Small mobs of motorists are gathering each hour around the alluring out-door stands at the sides of the road almost anywhere in this part of the country.

But the worshippers at these wayside vegetable shrines are blocking the highways, according to officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Sometimes some very serious accidents and near accidents have occurred because auto owners hop out of their vehicles and leave them standing almost in the center of the road while they visit the market and pinch and tweak the fruits and vegetables.

The auto club wants to suggest that all motorists who patronize the highway markets thoughtfully pull over off the road so that other machines can continue on their way. Don't have to be told to do this by the speed cop or officers, but do it of your own accord, suggests the club. Some motorists have a bad habit of casting a look-over their shoulder to see if there is a cop around, and if they don't see any they think they are slipping one over by evading a state law or act of common courtesy.

There Is Law!

As a matter of fact, there is a law which makes it illegal to halt your motor car in any highway in California, but perhaps there is not an officer present every minute in the vicinity of the vegetable stands. Motor car traffic has become such a tremendous problem in the southern counties of California that it is becoming more and more important for every individual automobile owner to take a little public interest in the welfare of this condition so that an unfortunate impression will not be given to eastern visitors of Southern California hospitality and courtesy.

Please just remember the next time you stop to buy some rhubarb or oranges or cabbages along the road to get your car off the highway so that traffic will not be blocked as it is at present.

Post Warning Not to Give Youngsters Ride

A warning is posted in California which reads: "Don't help boys and girls run away from home by giving them free auto rides." According to county juvenile authorities, 90 per cent of all runaways are caused by free rides given to children by motorists.

Only a very few birds have external ears like those of mammals.

2-CENT TAX ON GAS MAY RESULT

There Are 73 Bills in Which Automotive Industry Is Under Consideration

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Two cents a gallon will be charged on the cost for your gasoline, Mr. Motorist, if the proposed state tax passes the California legislature this session—and there is every probability that it will.

Those two cents will be collected through the few large distributing concerns and paid into the state treasury for the maintenance of California highways, according to the plan presented in several bills on the subject before the senate and assembly.

All told there are seventy-three bills affecting the motorist under consideration by the committees in the two houses. It is very probable they will concentrate on one or two, using the text of the others for amendments.

Important Provisions

Among the many proposals in Senator Arthur H. Breed's bill, which probably will be the parent of the new laws enacted, one finds the following provisions:

Duplex registration certificates, one on car and other retained by legal owner; soft-tired cars carrying plate showing permissible gross weight; both certificates must be endorsed and returned to motor vehicle department upon transfer of ownership; dealers not permitted to operate service cars under dealer's license; non-resident permits charged for three and six month periods; renting of garages to be made public record; examination of mind and body for issuance of driver's license hereafter; all traffic law violations to be endorsed on operator's license and two convictions suspend license; fees to be two dollars for registration of all vehicles and two dollars for operator's license; maximum width of all vehicles reduced from 102 to ninety-six inches; luggage carried reduced from twelve to six inches beyond hub line; gross weights of 22,000 pounds on four wheels and 30,000 on six wheels with officers privileged to remove excess loads without weighing and local authorities reducing weight limits to suit; only one trailer permitted and no connection between two vehicles to exceed 15 feet; red lights in front of cars only; white light on left side when load extends more than one foot beyond hub line; misdemeanor for failure to include in the sale.

SLEUTHS FOLLOW CAR CARGO CLEW

Mystery of Record Shipment Puzzles Motorists and Dealers

Dozens of Automobile Row, to say nothing of automobile owners and prospective owners, are puzzling over the mystery that surrounds the announcement of the arrival of what is said to be the greatest delivery of automobiles ever shipped into the state of California. Several gumshoe men with whiskers that were palpably false have been seen polishing up their tin stars in quiet corners, preparatory to taking up the chase again when one clew after another has proven false, but even the keenest efforts of these sleuths have failed to uncover the identity of the firm that is preparing to smash all existing records for automobile shipments into California.

What makes it all the more puzzling is that none of the local distributors will openly admit that it is his own people who are going to shatter the records for automobile importations, although at least one of them fails to get his

Speed King Prepares To Study Aviation

LOS ANGELES, March 10. — Jimmy Murphy, king demon of the automobile course, is preparing for new laurels. It became known yesterday when he was discovered at Rogers airport testing out the speed of two Curtis J. N. 4-D bi-planes purchased by him a month ago from the government.

Rumor had it some time ago that Murphy had raised his eyes and ambition from the speedway to the sky, but it was not learned until today that he had actually purchased two flying machines and was receiving regular instruction in aviation.

It also was learned Murphy has resigned from the Cliff Durant automobile racing team and in the future will appear under his own banner.

denial across in what may be termed a convincing manner. There is an air about him that would lead the earnest inquirer to believe that he knows more about the matter than he is willing to admit.

But if the mystery isn't cleared up very soon there is no assurance that the alleged intellects of some folks won't crack under the strain.

PREDICT GROWTH OF FORD OUTPUT

8000 Cars Daily by Next May Is Estimate of Local Agent

Commenting on the present condition of the Ford car market, Jesse E. Smith, 125 West Colorado, local agent for the car, says: "Although the Ford Motor Company has greatly increased its schedule of production, there has never been a time, perhaps, when we have faced so great a prospective shortage of Ford cars and trucks as at the present time. The factory is now turning out approximately fifty-five hundred cars per day and the schedule calls for the production of six thousand cars per day, beginning about the first of May. Before the expiration of the present year we expect to increase production to 8000 cars per day. Final reports from dealers show that February was the tenth consecutive month in which one hundred thousand or more Ford cars and trucks have been actually sold and delivered to buyers. Production for 1923 calls for one million, eight hundred thousand cars."

NEW DEVICE FOILS AUTO THIEVES

Ingersoll Lock Reduces Insurance Premium

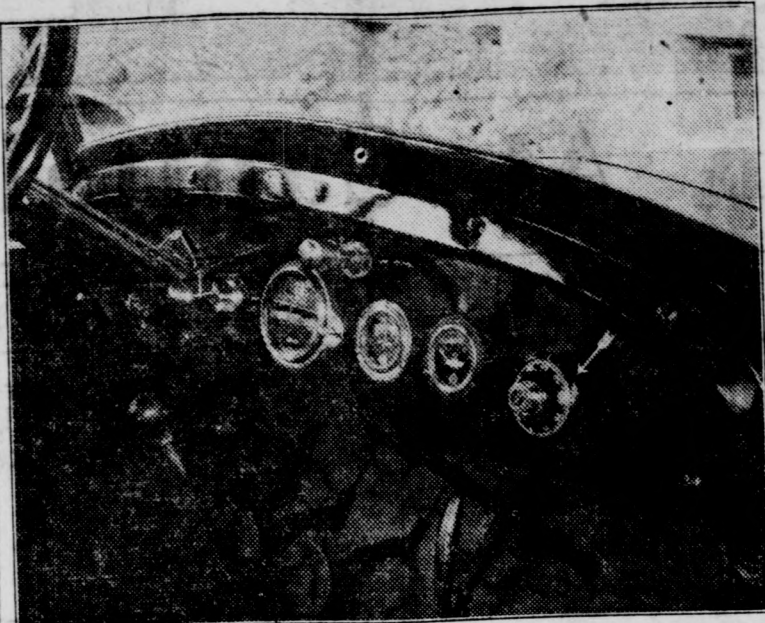

Illustration shows method of installing the Ingersoll Combination Ignition Lock on the automobile. Lock is now being installed on many Glendale cars.

O. W. Nation, manager of the Ingersoll Combination Lock company, manufacturers of the Ingersoll Combination Ignition lock, is in San Francisco at present completing arrangements for the transfer of the main office of the company from that city to Los Angeles and assisting the other executives of the company in planning for the distribution of the firm's product over this state and throughout the country. A branch office will be maintained in Glendale, where the Ingersoll lock is already finding many users among automobilists who have been impressed with its thief-proof qualities.

Mr. Nation states that the underwriters in Chicago have already agreed to reduce the insurance premiums on cars fitted with the Ingersoll lock by 12 1/2 per cent, and it is expected that still further reductions will be made on such cars.

The Ingersoll lock is fitted to the ignition system of the automobile and the tests to which it has been submitted by the leading engineers of the country have proved its efficiency and have sustained all of the claims made for it, the tests showing that no alterations were needed in it and that it stands as originally invented and that the protective efficiency of the lock could not be improved.

The demand for the lock has been greater than was at first anticipated, but the factory facilities of the company are such that there will be no difficulty in meeting this demand.

E. W. Cizek, 300 South Brand boulevard, has been engaged to fit the Ingersoll Combination Ignition Lock to cars in Glendale, and a number of local automobiles have already been protected against theft in this manner.

MAKE SPECIALTY OF REPAIR WORK

Betry & Gray Installing New Machinery to Handle Work on Autos

Additional facilities for all kinds of automobile repair work are being installed in the Betry & Gray shops at 802 East Colorado, and with this new equipment in place the firm will be in position to handle every kind of repair job that may be brought to it. The machinery is the latest of its kind and the expert workmanship of the firm insures the highest grade of work on all makes of cars. In addition to its repair and machine department, the firm has installed a gasoline filling station, with a separate department for lubricating oils, and facilities have been installed for oiling, greasing and washing automobiles in a rapid and efficient manner.

A special department will be devoted to storage of cars for automobile owners, and already the firm's business in this and all other lines is assuming respectable proportions.

The prospects for business here, the partners believe, are most encouraging, and they are backing their faith in the future of Glendale by investing close to $20,000 in their building at the corner of Colorado and Everett streets. The building now has a floor space of over 4000 feet and arrangements have been made to extend it still further to the rear of the lot as soon as business warrants their doing so.

FOR HANDY TOOL

To magnetize a screwdriver, for picking up screws, nuts, bolts and other metal objects from inaccessible places, hold it close to the dynamo for a few minutes until it is charged.

BE CONSISTENT

Make sure that no oil holes or grease cups are overlooked. Study the oiling chart of a car carefully. There may be many working parts and other connections which are suffering from neglect.

IMPORTANT FACTORS

Slow running in high gear in traffic and rapid acceleration in high gear are important factors of a car.

ATTEND OPENING OF MOON AGENCY

Many Visitors Inspect Models of New Cars Shown At Salesrooms

The opening day of the new Moon salesroom at 800 East Colorado was a pronounced success, according to R. W. Rundo, the local distributor, many visitors coming to look over the new plant and to investigate the three models of the Moon that are now on the floor. These models are the Sport touring, the Sedan and the Coupe, and all of them bear the mark of distinction that stamps the Moon output as one of the aristocrats of motordom. Mr. Rundo has been assured by the Moon factory that deliveries will be maintained regularly throughout the year, and he is prepared to meet any demands that may be made on his agency. At present he is building up his sales organization in preparation for the coming season, which he predicts will be a busy one.

On the occasion of his formal opening the salesroom was elaborately decorated with flowers and potted plants, and the lighting system that has been installed adds materially to the attractiveness of the establishment, affording as it does special facilities for the inspection of the cars at all hours of the day or night.

Mr. Rundo, owing to his work here the experience of years in different branches of the automobile business, and he is firm in his belief that Glendale offers an unequalled opportunity for the sale of cars of the Moon type.

STIFF TEST FOR BUICK'S ABILITY

Hauls Steam Roller Up Steep San Francisco Grades To Show Strength

The four cylinder sport model Buick that is now being shown in the salesroom of Tanner & Hall Ltd., 237 S. Brand, is the first of these models to be shown here and it is attracting much attention from local motorists who are impressed with its style and quality, according to Ray L. Calvin, sales manager of the company.

One of the most novel demonstrations of the efficiency and safety of torque tube construction in an automobile was given during auto show week in San Francisco by the Howard Automobile Co., when thousands of people were surprised to see a car with the rear springs detached from the axle towing an immense steam roller weighing in excess of two and one-half tons.

It was a Buick automobile and the stunt was performed to illustrate the reliability of the torque drive, regardless of what happened to the rear springs.

Over the steep hills of San Francisco this steam roller was towed by the Buick, with the two rear springs painted white so that they could be plainly seen as they hung suspended in the air several feet above the rear axle.

It was a most remarkable demonstration of the power of a Buick and the absolute dependability of the torque drive, which means that the rear axle is not held in alignment with the rear springs, the power being transmitted direct to the rear wheels and not through the springs.

STUDEBAKER

Hidden qualities largely determine the value and life of a closed car.

Beauty of line and finish and refinements are surface indications and important ones. But your satisfaction with a closed car depends to a great degree upon factors that are unseen—the in-built qualities that come from correct design, use of highest grade materials and careful workmanship.

It is impossible to get more out of a car than the maker has built into it.

The 23 series Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is a quality car. It is built to endure—to give lasting satisfaction. Both body and chassis are produced in Studebaker plants where painstaking craftsmanship has always been the rule and the practice. And Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for seventy-one years.

The Sedan body is substantially built. It will last for years and retain its beauty and comfort. Evidence of its hidden goodness lies in the fact that down under the paint and varnish, the pillars, roof rails and supporting members are made from specially selected ash. Good ash is expensive but Studebaker uses it because it best combines the proper strength and weight.

Four wide-opening doors make it easy for all passengers to get in or out without inconvenience to each other. A high-grade heater affords summer warmth on cold, damp days. The wide windows give broad vision in every direction.

When you buy a Light-Six Sedan you are really accepting the judgment of 100,000 owners who have found the Light-Six chassis so satisfactory.

Studebaker quality is traditional.

Farm Family Largest Users of Automobiles

"It is not the city man and his family who benefit most from the motor car, but the 3,000,000 farmers. More than 55 per cent of all automobiles go into population points of 5000 or less, so you can see that the wealthy tourists and the truck using corporations form but an infinitesimal part of those who gain through motor transportation." From address by Alfred Reeves, general manager National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

TEST CHEVROLET ON ECONOMY RUN

Grueling Trip Over Rough Mountain Roads Is Proof Of Worth

Details of a non-stop economy run made by a Chevrolet between Minot, N. D., and Los Angeles have been received by C. L. Smith, Orange and Colorado, Glendale, Chevrolet dealer, and they bear out the claims that Mr. Smith has been constantly making of the merits of the car.

The trip from Minot covered a distance of 3100 miles which was covered in 122 hours elapsed time by Irving "Speed" Wallace, a professional driver, who made the grind of 5 days and 2 hours with only two hours sleep. A relief driver accompanied Wallace, and the Chevrolet was driven over the 2100 miles of rough mountain roads of Montana and Idaho at a rate of 600 miles a day, averaging 25.4 miles per hour. Gasoline consumption for the trip averaged 25.3 miles per gallon, and the entire run was made on two quarts of oil.

"This record," declares Mr. Smith, "bears out every claim we have been making as to the economical transportation afforded by the Chevrolet, and the manner in which the car stood up to the racking strain of rough, hilly roads, traveling at death-defying speeds whenever possible, is abundant testimony to the inherent strength of the Chevrolet and is the answer to the question asked by so many motorists who are seeking economy and sturdiness in the cars they purchase."

DEALER DEFINES SERVICE NEEDED

Public Buys From Agent Who Can Provide For Upkeep of Car

"The responsibility of the local automobile dealer for the car he sells in his territory has been thoroughly established and the public are realizing the importance of buying an automobile from the dealer in their locality who has the facilities to furnish the service that should go with that car," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers.

"Service does not mean, necessarily, giving something for nothing; it does mean that everything should be provided for the care and upkeep of that car as long as it is operated on the road, and it is this kind of service that we are trying to give Maxwell and Chalmers owners in this territory."

"The automobile owner living in a city like Glendale will not fight the heavy traffic to get into the dealer's place of business in Los Angeles for a few adjustments, and when motor cars are purchased in the suburban towns, they are going to be bought from the automobile dealer in that locality who has the facilities to give the proper kind of service," says Mr. Clark.

BIG SHIPMENT OF HUDSONS ON WAY

Essex Models Also Included
In Delivery Expected
Here Next Week

A shipment of four carloads of Hudson and Essex cars, embracing all the models of these two lines, is due to reach the salesrooms of the Kelley Motor company, 230 North Brand boulevard, early next week, when it will be possible for the firm to fill some of the orders that have been pending for some time and still have a few cars left over for immediate delivery to local customers.

Some of the cars in the coming shipment are fitted with the Tuare steel disc wheels, which, according to Porter A. Kelley, manager of the firm, have been giving excellent satisfaction to thousands of motorists all over the country. In addition to the beauty which the Tuare wheels lend to a car's appearance, they are said to be absolutely silent and to add stability to any car to which they are fitted, enabling it to hold the road perfectly at all speeds and reducing vibration.

The new models that are due to arrive next week are the embodiment of the latest ideas in automobiles, according to Mr. Kelley, and the moderate prices at which they are offered give the average motorist an opportunity to secure a car of the better grade at a price that carries with it quality and dependability that stand unrivaled in the motor world today, he claims.

EXPERT TO TELL AUTO PRINCIPLES

Willys-Overland Lecturer to Explain Care of Automobiles

A detailed explanation of the principles of the Willys-Knight motor will be given at the salesrooms of Geo. T. Smith, distributor of the Willys-Knight and Overland cars, 228 South Brand, on Monday night at 8 o'clock, by Fred W. Lawton, one of the country's leading experts on internal combustion engines, when points of interest to every automobile owner will be thoroughly explained. In addition to Mr. Lawton's address there will be a motion picture and other features included in the entertainment.

Mr. Lawton is a representative of the Willys-Overland Company who has been lecturing for years in every part of the country, and he is recognized as an authority on automobile topics, and his clear and simple way of explaining what are so often regarded as intricate technical points in motor construction and operation has proven of immense benefit to motorists in enabling them to understand their cars better and to maintain them in proper running order at a minimum of expense and trouble.

Harry Kennedy, the sales manager of the firm, has invited all Willys-Knight and Overland owners in town to attend the lecture, and he has also issued a general invitation to the general public to attend and learn many things regarding the care of automobiles that may be new to many of them.

OBSTACLES FAIL TO HALT OLDS 4

San Diego to Phoenix and Return Trip Is Made In High Gear

The Oldsmobile four has just completed a 921-mile trip over some of the roughest roads in the southwest, going as far east as Phoenix, Arizona, and making the round trip from San Diego in high gear all the way, with the car sealed and the gear lever removed, covering the entire distance in 58 1/2 hours' elapsed time, according to a report that has just reached C. H. Hunter, 208 West Broadway, local dealer.

The accomplishment of the Oldsmobile four has caused a genuine sensation in motoring circles, as the obstacles that had to be overcome in crossing the Imperial valley and several stretches of road in Arizona were such as to call for most cars going into low gear for miles at a stretch, but the sturdy Olds battled its way over all the bad places without ever going out of high. The car was a stock model and was piloted throughout by amateur drivers.

The party reached Phoenix after 23 hours, running time, covering the 514 miles at an average gasoline consumption of 18.5 miles per gallon at an average speed of 22 miles per hour. Final figures on the trip show that the entire distance was covered at a speed of 20.4 miles per hour, with gasoline consumption averaging 18.2 miles. The only special equipment on the car was the Gabriel snubbers and a spotlight.

REO PHAETON IS STRIKING MODEL

Harry E. White Showing Sensation Car of Winter Shows

A complete description of the new Reo Phaeton which was seen for the first time at the National Automobile Shows has just been received by the local agents, Harry E. White, Inc., San Fernando and Brand, together with photographs of this handsome model.

The new Reo phaeton will undoubtedly be one of the most popular cars of the year and it has already created a great deal of attention and much favorable comment at the National Automobile shows.

The new phaeton, combining modernity with comfort and economy, is truly a quality product. Completely appointed and equipped to the smallest detail with every convenience for comfort and utility it represents the most advanced practices in design and is in conformity with the modern trends of motor car construction.

The standard chassis is used for this model. A few of the features incorporated in this chassis are the famous Reo six motor, having six cylinders of 3 3-16 inch bore and 5 inch stroke, rated at 24.3 h. p., but actually developing 50 h. p. at 2000 r.p.m. The subframe mounting of engine, clutch and transmission, provides even distribution of weight and freedom from road twist. Thirteen dry-plate Reo constructed clutch, which gently takes hold and yet maintains a firm grip under all conditions.

Living Outdoors Here Is Perennial Joy; Ride Out!

AS the beautiful days of this end-of-winter season come on, everybody is impressed, here in California, with the priceless conditions for journeying about the state with pleasure. With warm, balmy days and dry roadways, automobiles by the thousands may be found skimming along the picturesque highways, on Sundays and holidays, and after working hours during the week.

Pleasure riding in this state is one of the established joys of life here—an inseparable incident to living in California. It adds keenly to the joys of family life, for all members to go forth in the family machine, for an outing or a bracing drive. It is fortunate and gratifying, too, that the pleasures of autoing are not alone for the opulent.

Persons of moderate means—the man with a comparatively small income—is able to have a car. Indeed, owning an automobile no longer properly is to be regarded as a luxury. It is more in the nature of a necessity, or a comfort, and facility which can be afforded by almost every family in the land.

SOUTHLAND LURE AIDS CAR SALES

Eastern Winter Visitors Buy Autos for Journeys to Beauty Spots

The influx of winter visitors from the east and middle west to California brings business to the Packer Auto company, 245 South Brand boulevard, according to Steve Packer, who reports the sale of several Studebaker cars this month to newcomers who are either spending the winter here or who are contemplating taking up their residence here permanently.

Most of these newcomers, he declares, come to a place where they know they can purchase a car with a national reputation for intrinsic worth and at a price that is made to meet the strength of every pocketbook. The wide variety of models in the Big Six, Special Six, and Light Six classes affords an immense range both as to cars and prices, and behind each of them stands the Studebaker reputation for real value, built up by an establishment that has for so many years been identified with the development of American industry.

One inducement that leads the eastern visitor to purchase a car when he arrives here, if he has not one already, is the desire to visit the thousands of interesting and beautiful spots that abound in the Southland, and to which California's marvelous network of boulevards lead so easily and at such moderate motoring cost, a condition that does not prevail to the same degree in many of the eastern states that lack the variety and beauty of scene that stamps California as the motorist's paradise.

2-CENT TAX ON GAS MAY RESULT

Do You Like This?

Other legislation suggested in the senate includes first set of dealer's plates $10 and each additional set $1; allowing 10 per cent greater weight than maximum for use of cushion wheels; requiring busses or trucks loaded with explosives to come to full stop at railroad crossings; giving municipalities fine moneys collected by their officers, permitting supervisors by four-fifths vote to declare a city street part of county road system; uniform conditional sales regulations giving notice prior to sales, defaults, etc.; triplicate file of photographs including picture on driver's license; felony to use car without owner's written consent; all state vehicles to be marked with name of department or no bills for up-keep allowed; new power for railroad commission's control of motor carriers; seven per cent tax on motor carrier receipts; all motor vehicles to be equipped with speedometer; all motor vehicles to be equipped with stop and turning signals understood at fifty feet distance in daylight or dark; licenses for dealers in auto tires and authority for highway commission to loan money for bridge construction.

Auto Club Gets Busy In the foregoing resume many so-called "jokers" may be readily seen and the Automobile Club of Southern California, the California State Automobile Association and the Motor Carriers Association are preparing to fight for their elimination during committee hearings.

The assembly is considering much similar legislation a resume of the bills showing the following proposals:

Reduction in Speed

Limiting mechanics' liens to $50 without due notice; exempting one machine from execution; reduction of maximum speeds to thirty miles and twenty-five miles at night; providing for collection of licenses by county tax collectors, half to be retained by county; requiring all motors to be controlled by mechanical governor preventing excess of legal limit; preventing vehicles from standing on main travel portion of highway; revocation of license for failure to appear at trial; new bond issue act to complete highway system; provision for recording of conditional sales; provision for inspection of brakes every ninety days by authorized agency for $1.50 fee; elimination of speed traps; distinctive uniforms for all arresting officers; increased penalties for overloading; division of motor vehicle funds between state, city and county; negligence of operator will prevent invited guests from recovering from third party for injuries; publication and distribution of state highway maps; prohibition on advertising signs along highways; regulation of motor transportation of passengers and freight; authority for supervisors to double present property tax for highway purposes; making it illegal to lead any animal by means of motor vehicle; increasing headlight requirements; theft and embezzlement of cars to be reported to motor vehicle department; safety tie chain for trailers; providing right of way in passing; prohibition for children coasting or skating on highways; NO ROAD RACES OR SPEED CONTESTS PERMITTED; unlawful to have in possession any vehicle from which numbers or license plates are removed; assistance in unauthorized operation of vehicle a felony, and other measures to curb thefts; red flags for tow lines; thumb prints for operators; licensing of oil stations; and bond of $5000 posted with registration for payment of damages.

Many other bills before the legislature are a skeleton form and anything unthought of may yet be inserted. Motor legislation is a Babylonian subject, but from out of it all some good should result.

THOUGHTLESSNESS Never stop in the lane of travel to pick up or discharge passengers. Many accidents and rear-end collisions are caused in this way.

VIBRATOR POINTS

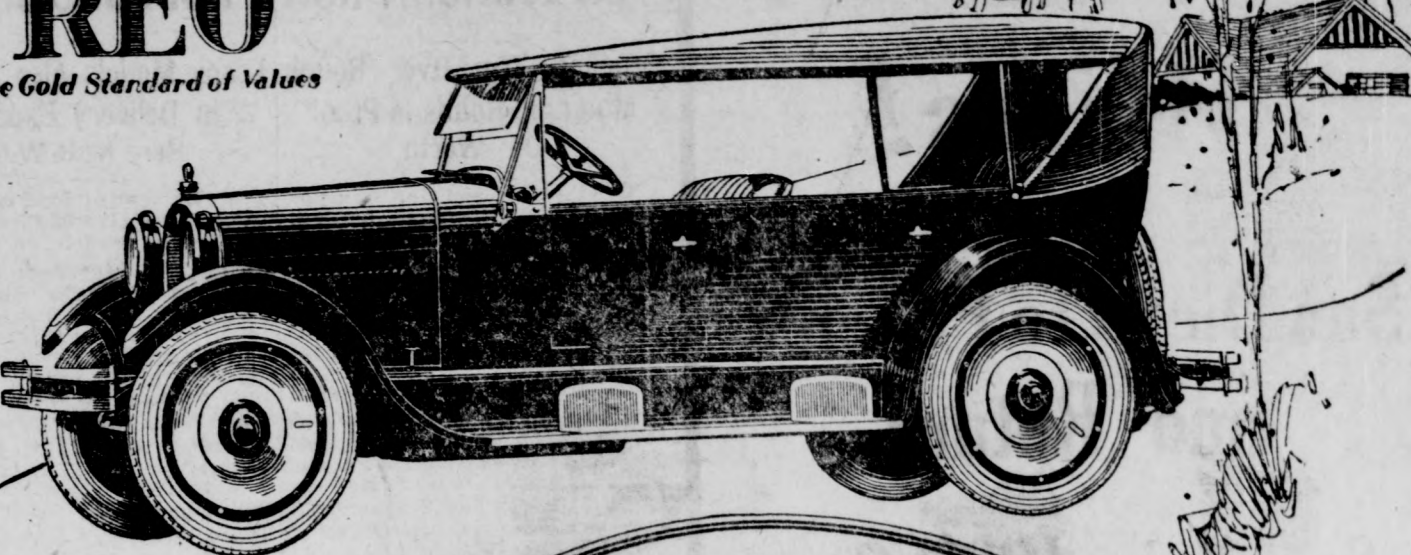

A way of reducing the wear on the coil vibrator points with battery ignition is periodically to reverse the direction of the current flow through the system.

CAN BE REMEDIED

Squeaks within the cylinder can be remedied by injecting oil in the spark plug openings or the petcock.

USE ALL CARE AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Stop, Look and Listen! That's Good Tip When Approaching Track

There is only one safe way to avoid accidents at grade crossings, points out the safety bureau, and that is when approaching a crossing where there is not a clear and unobstructed view of the tracks in both directions to stop, look and listen. If the way is clear and no train approaching, shift into first or second gear and hurry across.

Wait for Shift

Don't shift gears again until clear of the tracks. This precaution is necessary to minimize the chance of flooding the carburetor and stalling your car in the middle of the railroad right of way in case you should see a train approaching and nervously push the accelerator down too rapidly.

An additional precaution to be followed where there are two or more tracks is, according to the auto club, after you have waited for a train to pass, to allow it to travel far enough so that you may see the other track is clear and that there is no train approaching in the shadow of the one just passed. Many people have been killed because of the failure to take this precaution.

Keep in mind that it is practically impossible for a train to stop in time to prevent an accident in an emergency when you and your car have loomed up suddenly just in front of the engine.

IMPORTANCE OF CLIPS

The spring clips which hold the springs to the axle should be frequently inspected and tightened. A loose clip will cause a spring to break very quickly. A little oil and graphite injected between the spring leaves will also make the spring more flexible and prevent squeaks, due to rusting.

CAN BE REMEDIED

Squeaks within the cylinder can be remedied by injecting oil in the spark plug openings or the petcock.

ISSUE OF BONDS

Lodge Answers Woodward's Plea by Unanimous Vote In Favor of Project

At the regular weekly session last night of Glendale lodge, No. 331, of the Knights of Pythias, in their castle hall, corner Park and Brand, Chancellor, Commander Edward S. Melzer presided over a goodly number of officers, members and visiting brothers.

Attorney Bert F. Woodward, past chancellor, made a stirring appeal for support of the proposed school bonds, after which the lodge unanimously voted to endorse them.

Scoutmaster Jolliff, in charge of the Troop No. 10 Scouts, made an encouraging report on scout activities.

An election for representatives to the K. of P. Grand lodge session, to be held in May at Santa Cruz, resulted in the selection of James A. Spence and Calvin S. Nicholson to represent Glendale lodge, with Sam Brown and Emil Fram as alternates.

The building committee reported progress and the special membership committee was given an appropriation and full power to conduct an extensive membership drive.

Lieutenant Griffin of the police department made a pleasing speech.

Past Chancellor Woodward called Junior Past Chancellor Nicholson to the floor, and on behalf of the Glendale lodge, presented to him a past chancellor's jewel.

By vote of those present, Past Chancellor Nicholson was named district deputy to represent the grand chancellor for the ensuing year.

Too Much Jazz Leads To Suit for Divorce

BROCKTON, Mass., March 10.—Too much jazz was the cause for the domestic troubles of his family, according to Joseph A. Tully, 51, charged in the district court with non-support of his wife and children. He said he objected to the idea of his wife dressing his four-year-old daughter in knickers and with constantly hearing jazz on the victrola.

"My money went to buy jazz records for the machine," he declared. "I never heard a good old Irish tune on it since it has been in the house."

BUDGET INQUIRY NOW UNDER WAY

Senate and House Start on Problem; Places Damper on Norwalk Alarm

Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Actual consideration of the governor's budget is under way in the senate finance committee and in the house ways and means committee. Considerable language was used in its defense as the hearings opened while sarcastic smiles were accorded the flow of verbiage, but it took Mrs. Nellie Brewer Pierce, budget maker to answer some pretty pertinent questions.

The opening performances could be compared to the first few minutes of an autopsy. While everyone knew pretty well where the trouble would be found, there seemed to be a puzzle as to the efforts of the "doctors" to dig into the problem too deeply at the outset. Senator Burnett put some very caustic inquiries to Mrs. Pierce, whose replies seemed to competently close the issues at stake.

In the senate the subjects are being taken up in serial form which leaves education until last and this most issue will not be reached for a week or ten days at least. Senator Jones has endeavored to organize opposition to some of the appropriations in a letter offering to "swap votes" with others, but his attempt has miscarried, according to political observers.

Praises Conditions
An inclination to peacefully attempt to make the governor see the reason for certain community and commission's demands on the state's pocketbook has a tendency to block any organized fight which it is admitted would be futile in the face of conditions.

It is interesting to note, at the outset of the hearings, a report by Chairman Chester M. Kline of the house ways and means committee on the institutions throughout the state. He made a tour of inspection during the constitutional recess and says:

"I doubt if there is a state in the country which boasts any better conditions than those I found in California. Every institution visited is in excellent condition, well maintained, well lighted and ventilated. Their respective heads seem satisfied with what is being done and no dissatisfaction is expressed over provisions for their upkeep."

Norwalk Oil Field
State Oil Inspector R. W. Colom is inclined to throw cold water on the possibilities of the Norwalk State Hospital lands becoming a great oil revenue producer for the state. He says only twenty acres are situated geologically in line for development now.

Gasoline and lubricating oil frauds are being investigated by the oil industries committee of the assembly, it being charged that synthetic gasoline is being marketed in Southern California at enormous profits while the products of sunflowers are being mixed with eastern oils as a motor lubricant. Assemblymen Charles B. Dawson and Harry Lyons of Los Angeles made the charges before the committee and hearings will be continued next Tuesday.

It is claimed that gasoline can be sold for 10 cents a gallon in Los Angeles as its cost of production is less than 7 cents. All of which is interesting if true, but the legislators seemingly do not know what to do.

For Southern Branch
Senator Charles W. Lyons is introducing a bill for an appropriation of $200,000 for adding a third year to the university work given at the Southern branch in Los Angeles. This comes as a result of the board of regents' decision favoring the move. Lyons also has a bill which would extend the course to four years with the awarding of degrees, thus saving the southern students from going to Berkeley for graduation.

Los Angeles county supervisors will hold a meeting with their representatives here this week at the same time attending a state meeting of supervisors.

Appointment of a joint legislative committee to meet the congressional committee coming to California to investigate the Colorado river project is proposed by Assemblyman Prendegast of Riverside.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB NEW HOME FOLLOWS MISSION STYLE

Housewarming On Monday Afternoon and Formal Opening On Tuesday Night for Members and Their Escorts

California's national reputation for beautiful and unique club houses.

Most Artistic
With its two main entrances on Central avenue, the club house, with its brown plaster exterior, darker brown art stone decorations, artistic windows, brilliant roof tiles and long, low design, attracts the eye of travelers along either Central avenue or Lexington drive.

Facing the building on Central avenue one sees directly before him two main entrances, the entrance into the foyer and auditorium on the north half of the building, and the entrance into the social quarters on the south half of the building. On the extreme south half is the porte-cochere, with a driveway leading from Lexington drive to the building and on out onto Central avenue. From the porte-cochere there is also a second entrance into the social quarters.

Returning to the main entrance on the north half of the building one approaches and mounts three cement steps onto a wide veranda, possibly fourteen feet in width and fifty feet deep, before the doorway.

Specially Designed
This facade with its specially designed brown art stone frame for the massive wooden door with oblong windows with iron railings, and balcony window above the doorway is the alluring invitation to the visitor to enjoy the treasures that lie within the door.

The foyer is most adequate and awesome with its beauty. From it two doors lead into the auditorium: French doors out onto the north walk; French doors into the palm room to the south, and two stairways up to the men's and women's parlors and projecting room. Two cloak checking rooms are on either side of the entrance.

Rough plastering, rich with stipling in silver and gold, black stenciling, is used in the foyer. Lighting will be from specially designed wrought iron fixtures.

A gray stain has been used on the stairway and woodwork leading to the parlors and projecting room. The women's parlors are on the north side and the men's parlors on the south side of the entrance.

Projection Room
The projection room has been built according to the most modern developments and is metal lined and fireproof. Additional fire protection is found in the foyer, where a fire hose and equipment case have been provided at one of the entrances to the auditorium.

Blending with the artistic scheme presented in the foyer, the auditorium extending approximately 120 feet to the east and with a seating capacity of 764 persons, is a masterpiece within a masterpiece.

An interesting feature of the auditorium is that the ceiling, which is carried out in the same design as the walls, has no light fixtures, the lighting provisions being in lighting troughs on the side walls and from massive lanterns hanging by chains attached to heavy iron arms coming from each pilaster. The troughs are oblong affairs done in colors to harmonize with the whole.

Well-Equipped Stage
A commodious orchestra pit is located just in front of the stage, which is perhaps eighteen feet deep and fifty feet in length and thirty-five feet from floor to top. A beautifully fashioned arch of Travertine marble is over the stage setting. The stage has six modernly equipped dressing rooms and ample space for scenery.

Under the stage is the room for the heating and ventilating system. Heating is to be by a gas-steam system.

There are six oblong windows on either side of the auditorium. Going back through the auditorium into the foyer again one passes through French doors into the palm room, which is a delightful intermission between the north and south parts of the building.

Red Spanish tiles form the flooring, while rough plastering covers the walls and rough beams above will provide places for climbing vines and hanging plants. The palm room has an attractive wall fountain in brown tile. French doors lead into the foyer, into the dining room, into the reception room and into the lounge room.

Real Home Atmosphere
Another charming spot is the lounge room, where the real home atmosphere and hospitality of the club organization will be located. The rough plastering also found in this room, but the real treasure is the beautiful, massive fireplace with art tile work and elaborate stencil design above. In this room has been installed rich, beautiful, wrought-iron lighting fixtures, specially designed on a long holder effects.

Simple lighting in the lounge room is provided by three French windows looking out on Central avenue; two into the palm room; one into the reception room and three onto the veranda before the main entrance.

The center of the social and administrative activities will be the reception room, with entrances from the south porte-cochere and from the Central avenue side. In entering from Central avenue one finds immediately within the door

CENSUS REVEALS NATION'S WEALTH

Figures Show United States To Be Richest Country
In Entire World

The decennial census of wealth being taken by the United States Census Bureau will show an enormous increase since 1913. It will show that this is the richest country in the world, although its per capita wealth may not be as great as in the British Empire. Total wealth may be shown to be $300,000,000,000 to $400,000,000,000 or more.

Real estate will be estimated in the ratio of taxation. Value of personal property will be reported also of railroad properties, manufacturing plants, mines, standing timber, commercial enterprises of various kinds, farms, livestock, etc.

A new feature will be a statement of American holdings of securities abroad, including the $10,000,000,000 allied war loans. Director Stewart of the Census Bureau says he plans to get together for the first time a statement of total taxes paid by the American people. The Agricultural Department has asked that taxes collected in urban and rural communities be shown separately.

Total indebtedness of the various political subdivisions will also be covered. This will be of special interest now, in view of the proposed constitutional amendment to permit taxation of bonds and other securities issued by nation, states, counties, cities and other political subdivisions. Prof. Edwin R. A. Seligman of Columbia University has estimated public debt to the federal government, including farm loans, at about $23,500,000,000. Census of 1913 showed total of state, county, local and other civil division public debts was $3,834,807,291, which Prof. Seligman estimates increased to $6,000,000,000 in 1919 and $10,000,000,000 by December 31, 1922.

What Last Census Showed
The last census of wealth, debt and taxation showed total estimated value of all property was $187,739,071,090, which included $402,351,000 on U. S. navy ships and $299,000,000 on privately owned water supply systems. National wealth was approximately $86,000,000,000 in 1900 and $107,000,000,000 in 1904.

Unofficial but authoritative economists have estimated the national wealth of the United States as $268,000,000,000 in 1916 and $272,000,000,000 in 1920. An estimate prepared here for the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments last winter placed America's wealth at $350,000,000,000. Different methods have been used in arriving at the respective results of the census, economists' estimates and arms conference expert reports. These estimates are understood to have taken into account the depreciated value of the dollar during the war.

The government census will deal with physical property. Securities will be covered as they are supposed to be based upon physical property. Census officials estimate that 50 per cent to 70 per cent of the total wealth of the nation is represented by the value of land and improvements thereon.

Per Capita Wealth
An interesting feature will be the per capita wealth of America. This was estimated as $508 in 1850 and in 1860, just before the civil war, had increased to $514. By 1890 it was reported by the census as $1036; in 1900 it had reached $1165, and in 1904, $1318. The 1913 census reported per capita at $1965. During the arms conference it was estimated to be $3289.

Wealth of the United States was compared by arms conference experts in 1921 with other leading nations as follows:

	Total (billions dol.)	Per Capita
United States	350	$3,289
British Empire	180	3,355
France	100	2,411
Italy	30	817
Japan	25	447

Census of 1913 showed taxes and other revenues received by the federal government, states, counties and incorporated places having a population of 2500 or more aggregated $2,799,497,755, or $28.81 per capita. The figures of the census of 1923 will be much more complete, covering smaller places besides special taxes not included in the above.

California Second In Rice Production

California ranks second in rice production and first in yield per acre among the rice producing states, according to the United States bureau of economics. Louisiana leads in production with 47 per cent of the crop, and California follows with 19 per cent.

PRE-OPENING SALE AT TRACT PROVES PROPERTY IS POPULAR

More Than $150,000 Worth Sold and Many More to Invest, Is Announced

GLENDALE people believe in Glendale's future and they proved it very conclusively during the past week by their rush to buy property in beautiful Bellehurst Park, Glendale's latest and greatest subdivision, which was thrown on the market to Glendale people only last Saturday.

Over $150,000 worth of property has already been purchased. On Sunday the Dryden street entrance to the tract was jammed with hundreds of automobiles all day long and groups of interested Glendale people thronged the entire tract in spite of the fact that many of the new streets were still blocked with orange trees and lot corners were somewhat difficult to locate with assurance. In spite of these conditions, most prospective buyers made a careful study of the property and many sales were completed at the new tract office.

This week will see the last of the pre-opening sale to Glendale residents as the entire southern half of the state will be covered with an intensive advertising and selling campaign beginning in two or three days. Some of last week's buyers have already listed their lots with the Walter H. Leimert company for resale at advanced prices during the rush that is sure to develop.

High Fences Down

Surprising as it may seem, many old Glendale residents had never been on this property in spite of the fact that it is only two blocks east of Brand boulevard and five blocks north of Broadway. The high fences and "keep out" signs that were necessary to protect the bearing orchards had prevented many people from actually visiting the estate. Of course, all fences and signs of this character are now down forever and the marvelous beauty of the property is a revelation to all who see it for the first time.

Start Grading Work

A large crew of men and tractors have been busy all this week tearing trees out of the streets and starting the grading work, under the direction of E. W. Tuttle of the Los Angeles branch of Bates & Borland, who have the contract for the development work. Great progress has been made and all who visit the tract today and tomorrow will find facilities for locating lots and getting the lay of the land very much better than a week ago.

"Glendale people should make every effort to actually complete the purchase of their lots today and tomorrow," said Lawrence Block, sales manager for the Walter H. Leimert company, when interviewed yesterday. "We are making every effort in our carefully planned sales campaign to give the Glendale people preference in Bellehurst Park because we realize that this has long been the most admired area of the entire city and that hundreds of Glendale residents have planned to acquire lots here as permanent homesites."

Of High Type

"Many of our earliest purchasers already own homes in other parts of Glendale, but they plan on moving soon into this tract because they visualize the high type of residence community that is sure to grow up here in the midst of the present city."

FRUIT TREES AID GENERAL HEALTH

Experts Ever Ready to Give Public Information on What to Plant

By C. P. CLOSE
States Relations Service

Nothing could be more commendable than for the great state of California to foster and set aside a week to be known as "Planting Week," thus awakening in the minds of the people the desire for berries and tree fruits fresh out of one's own garden or orchard. California is blessed with such a long growing season and such a salubrious spring climate, and can grow such an endless number of fruits of all kinds from the tropical ones to those of temperate and cold climates, that it is almost a reflection on good citizenship for those who have the land available not to grow fruits for the home and a few extra for friends, or for sale.

Putting aside for the moment the food and medicinal value of fruit, and considering only the fun, recreation, satisfaction, and health in producing it in the garden or orchard, one is justified in planting and growing a whole lot of fruit and then just reveling in the pleasure of eating it. But when one can share the joy of big luscious berries and juicy tree fruits with one's friends, the joys and pleasures are multiplied a hundred fold, and he or she will walk with a more erect carriage and a more elastic step, in the pride of having produced something worth while.

Need Fruit Daily

The discussion of the food and medicinal value of fruit falls within the realm of nutrition specialists who tell us that our bodies need fruit every day. These specialists are wise and we should heed their advice. If we grow our own fruit we will have it fresh and often and eat more than if we have to buy it. Let us take sober recognition of the fact that we may each have only one body and no more, so if fruit will nourish this body, why not (Continued on Page 7)

Campaigns Will Bring Big Crowds to California and Many Propose to Remain

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Glendale is an inspiration. So is Los Angeles and all of Southern California. It is the beacon light for the balance of the state in advertising and possibilities of California. All of which is good for the whole state.

San Francisco saw the tremendous strides being made by the southern section and awoke to the realization it must do a little boosting in its own behalf. Feature articles declaring the climate around the bay district to be the most equable in the country are getting results.

Sacramento, likewise, has undertaken a building and farming development campaign that is bound to bring thousands of settlers to the Golden West. Central California also is awakening from its lethargy and the united spirit of "straight ahead" is bound to redound in tremendously increased values in real property all along the coast.

At the same time, this competitive effort calls forth renewed vigor and greater zeal on the part of Glendale and Southern California. The building of a Pacific empire has but begun. All eyes must be kept focused on Glendale, "the fastest growing city in America."

From the sidelines, one opines that the best advertisement for the city of homes is to keep its monthly building average over the million mark. Three million dollars the first three months of 1923 will cause more recognition for Glendale than three million words of flattery.

TWINING & MYERS SELL NEW TRACT

Honolulu Acres at Montrose Is Placed on Market by Local Firm

That Twining & Myers, real estate subdividers, and at present selling agents for Mesa Crest, one of the most beautiful subdivisions recently opened near Glendale, are more than living up to their reputation as live wire subdividers, is attested by the fact that a deal consummated yesterday places the Honolulu Acres tract in their hands as exclusive selling agents.

Honolulu Acres, which is about one mile and a half from Mesa Crest, at Montrose, is owned by Fred Anderson, who has heretofore been actively engaged in the selling of this property. Banking interests at Montrose and other personal business matters made it necessary for Mr. Anderson to dispose of the property in a lump with the result that Honolulu Acres is now under the selling control of Twining & Myers.

Adding to the attractiveness of the scenic view of this tract is a profusion of large live oak trees scattered here and there throughout the entire 50 acres.

According to Mr. Twining, lots at Honolulu Acres are being offered on sale without restriction. "It's an ideal spot for city folks and others who wish to get out of town for a week-end, to build a cabin," Mr. Myers declared. "On the other hand, it offers wonderful possibilities for poultry and rabbits," he said.

Light and Water
All streets will have a minimum width of 60 feet and will be graded and oiled. Already electricity for lighting and cooking, as well as an abundance of water, are available to residents of this section.

"Comparison of the prices now existing on lots at Honolulu Acres with other similar property adjacent and not far distant, reveal the fact," asserted Mr. Twining, "that this property is now being put on sale at prices far below anything else in this vicinity."

Improvements at Mesa Crest are progressing rapidly, and it is expected that within the very near future all streets, curbs and pavements will be completed.

The selling organization of the company is constantly being enlarged, as well as the business office, to care for the ever-increasing activities of the firm, a house-and-lot department being added during the past week.

Messrs. Twining & Myers were both executives for a number of years with the F. P. Newport Company of Los Angeles, and are well known in southern California realty circles.

LEARNS TALENT BY ACCIDENT Child's Plaything Leads Woman Into Art

Because her little son was given a box of modeling clay for a toy about a year ago, Mrs. J. LeRoy Nielson, wife of Lieutenant-Commander Nielson, U. S. N., has forsaken society to take up sculpturing seriously and is considered one of the most promising pupils in San Francisco. The child was too small to use the clay, so Mrs. Nielson modeled animals, learning for the first time that she was a natural born sculptress.

Hectic Politics Mark Trail of Agitators

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 10.—Tlaxcala, the last of the Mexican states to fall prey to political agitators, is now in the throes of an upheaval which may mean another revolution, according to advices here.

Following the murder of six residents on March 3, as a result of a state election, two political parties are causing national concern. Two of the present one, is forecast as the result of the political campaign. Maxim Rojas, leading the party of liberal constitutionalists, is opposing Dr. R. Apango, the governor of the state of Tlaxcala. The national government is investigating the accusations of immorality on the part of Governor Apango.

In Guerrero and San Luis Potosi, both important states, dual congresses were formed in January, the national senate being addressed to settle the disputes.

HORNED OWLS

Great horned owls' young appear earlier in the year than practically any other bird, sometimes as early as February.

It was against the law in ancient China to evaporate salt water to make dry salt.

Research Work Aids Real Estate Boards

The name of the Research Bureau of the National Association of Real Estate Boards was changed at the midwinter meeting held at Jacksonville, Florida, last month to the committee of facts and problems. Arrangements were made for the establishment of a trust fund of $1,000,000 as a sort of endowment fund, the interest on which is to be devoted to research work specifically pertaining to all phases of the real estate business and the application of these results to the solution of real estate problems.

Probe of Campaign Assessments Continues

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Members of the Carter assembly committee, investigating campaign contributions, alleged to have been in violation of the law, from civil service employees, announced that they intended to carry their inquiry to the "bitter end."

The committee will hold several more hearings in Sacramento and will then go to San Francisco.

NEED PLANS TO BUILD PROPERLY

Logical Starting Point for Building Operations, Says Contractor

Emphasis on the necessity of using plans when building is made by Donald R. Gillin, service manager of the Bentley Lumber company at 460 West Los Feliz road. He says, "No contractor can tell what any house should cost until he sees the detailed working drawing plans and specifications. A builder is not a mind reader. He must have something definite to figure with any accuracy. Contracting is enough of a gamble under existing conditions. It is worse than a gamble financially and usually disastrous to the owner when a builder attempts to build without plans."

"Building a home is strictly a business proposition. Treat it as such. Don't accept any contractor's statement that he doesn't need plans. They all need plans. You need plans to settle and clarify your own ideas if for nothing more. Plans are the logical starting point for any building operation. The service department of the Bentley Lumber company is equipped with over 500 beautiful photographic views of ideal homes. Plans are free to customers."

Observance of Parole To Free Life Termers

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—The rigors of the present parole law will be greatly reduced if a bill which the senate has passed becomes a law.

The measure provides that when a life-termer out on parole has complied with the conditions and terms of his parole for a period of ten years he will become a free man.

Under the present law such a man stands always under the shadow of the crime he once committed.

The senate bill was introduced by Senator Walter McDonald of San Francisco and received almost unanimous support in the senate when it came up for final passage today. Only one vote, that of Senator Harry Chamberlain of Los Angeles, was cast against the measure.

There was some other opposition but it remained quiescent, several senators refusing to vote at all.

The City Beautiful

100,000 People Will Live There

The room is there—a superb expanse of valley, slopes, foothill and mountain homesites, scenically unsurpassed.

And the reasons are there—reasons why 100,000 people will find every inducement to make their homes in "The City Beautiful." Here are some of them:

1. Burbank is at the great northwest gateway to Los Angeles, about 30 minutes from its business center.
2. It is on the main Coast and Valley lines of the Southern Pacific; on the interurban electric line and the bus line.
3. It is traversed by the State Highway leading to all Central and Southern California points.

REVIEW 20 YEARS OF RECLAMATION

Millions of Acres of Arid Land Reclaimed by Law's Operation

A twenty year review of government reclamation work is contained in the annual report for the fiscal year ended last June of Director Arthur P. Davis, of the reclamation service of the department of the interior, as June 17, 1922, marked the completion of twenty years of operation of the national reclamation act.

The investment of the government during this period has been in round numbers, $135,000,000, which has accomplished the construction of works by which about 1,650,000 acres of former arid land in the west has been furnished with a complete water supply, and about 1,100,000 additional acres in private projects has received a supplemental supply. On government projects the area comprises 31,462 farms, at an average per farm of about fifty-three acres, supplying more than 30,000 families.

13,000 Miles of Canals

With the investment mentioned the service has excavated more than 200,000,000 cubic yards of earth and rock, of which amount 14,000,000 cubic yards have been placed in dams. Canals aggregating more than 12,000 miles have been built, including twenty-seven miles of tunnels and 135 miles of flumes. Structures of all kinds and sizes to the number of 110,000 have been erected in connection with the work.

Some of the large projects constructed are the Roosevelt dam, in Arizona, which is 200 feet high; the Arrowrock dam, in Idaho, 249 feet high; Elephant Butte dam, in New Mexico, 306 feet high, and the Pathfinder and Shoshone dams, in Wyoming, 215 feet and 328 feet high respectively.

Reclamation work also included the erection of many other dams, canals and tunnels, flumes, drains, power plants, transmissions and telephone lines, roads, railroads, pumping plants and a variety of other classes of incidental work.

Added Another State
From an agricultural standpoint the report said, the reclamation service has added another state to the union, equal in value to its agricultural products that of the state of West Virginia or the combined values of the crops of Vermont and Connecticut. The value of crops raised on farms on government projects in 1921 amounted to $49,620,000, exclusive of about $45,000,000 additional raised on private projects which were furnished water from works erected by the service.

Average Acre Nets $42.85

The value of crops grown on irrigated lands in the federal projects in 1921 averaged $42.85 per acre, as compared with $14.52, the average value per acre of the ten leading crops in the country as a whole in the same year. Since the government projects began the delivery of water the crops grown on reclaimed land have exceeded $475,000,000 in value, exclusive of the crop value on private lands watered through the government sources and of the increased value produced as live stock and stock products. The increased value of the lands as a result of reclamation work by the government was placed at over $50,000,000.

Director Davis pointed out that the reclamation projects have not been exempted from the vicissitudes of industrial conditions.

List of Banks Is Proof of Prosperity

Los Angeles had twenty-one state banks and eighteen branches with total assets of $163,000,000 six years ago. January 1, this city possessed nineteen state banks with 140 branches with combined assets of nearly $427,000,000.

Such is the comparison furnished by an analysis of a recent report of Jonathan S. Dodge, then superintendent of banks. It does not include national banks.

There are 774,104 depositors in the state banks of Los Angeles in contrast with 739,541 in San Francisco state banks.

SHRUBS HELP TO HOME GROUNDS

California House Is Made Much More Attractive
By Right Planting

A good covering of the lawn area about the house, sufficient shade, and well placed shrubs about the grounds are necessary to make a California house home-like.

Most homes, especially the older established ones, have ample shade and a good ground cover, but the appearance of many can be greatly improved by the planting of shrubs about their foundations, and along the boundaries of the yards surrounding them.

Every region has plants that seem particularly appropriate to it. These have characteristics that especially adapt them to the local climatic conditions and are usually indicated in a measure by the native plants. For example, in the northeastern United States, northern Canada, and much of the mountain region of the Pacific coast, cone bearing evergreens, like pines and spruces, are the characteristic vegetation. Along the south Atlantic coast and Gulf of Mexico broad leaved evergreens thrive, in warm desert regions thick, fleshy plants are the ones that predominate, while in the intermediate regions deciduous plants are most common and unite the other regions, and in many places are the only ones that succeed.

Climate Varies
In California the climate varies greatly often in short distances at one place providing a cool, moist atmosphere, and at another a dry, hot one for months, followed by a cool, rainy season. To meet such conditions different kinds of plants are often required. The test of a plant's more often ability to withstand heat and drought, especially during winds, than cold or cold and moisture.

To meet these varying conditions many attractive native plants are available, suited to cultivation in the different sections, the cultivation of many of which has been taken up by nurserymen and more of which should become available. In addition, the energy of nurserymen has brought to California a wealth of material from Australia and other points in the eastern hemisphere, drought resistant plants that add greatly to the variety available.

Many Kinds
Among trees are the gum or eucalyptus, palm, evergreen, oak, acacia, and fig in variety for much of the state, and the pepper tree, grevillea, camphor, casuarina, rubber, and jacaranda, for warmer regions, and walnut, sycamore, elm, oak and maple for the cooler and mountain section. Among good shrubs for much of the state are the lilacs, California lilacs or ceanothus, eucalyptus, bush, crape myrtle, coral berry, buckbrush, sumac, honeysuckle and other well known deciduous shrubs that have come from dry countries or that grow on dry soils. Among evergreens are also species of eucalyptus, pomegranate, oleanders, hollies, evergreen cherry, pittosporums, Monterey cypress and so on.

BUILDING ACTIVE AT SPARR HEIGHTS

More Than Dozen Artistic Homes Are Completed on Attractive Tract

Building operations are getting into full swing at Sparr Heights, the great 1500 acre residential tract in the Verdugo Valley to the northeast of Glendale. Already nearly a dozen artistic homes have been completed in the beautiful district, and construction work will soon begin on a large public garage, and several stores. Owing to the advantageous location of Sparr Heights, lying in the very neck of the funnel which drains the territory bounded by the Sierra Madre range, the Verdugo and San Rafael Hills, there must inevitably develop at this point a great community of homes as well as a business section designed to minister to its domestic and economic needs.

The handsome $25,000 Community Center building donated by William S. Sparr and the Francis, Bartram, Walters Company, the Greek Theater and the Oakwood Country Club, with its mammoth swimming pool and splendid eighteen-hole golf course will furnish centers for social diversion.

In the Heart of Tract
The club house will be located in the very heart of the tract and surrounded by artistic homes that will have as a foreground the beautiful green of the golf course. This course will occupy the bottom of the bowl formed by the mountain chains and will be practically the only course in the United States absolutely encircled by and visible to all the homes in the district.

To those who love the trail for hiking or horseback riding the numerous bridle-paths which climb the surrounding ridges will be available, while the close proximity of the Tujunga Canyon and the Arroyo Seco afford an opportunity for camping and sport with the rod and reel.

READS SCARAB HISTORY OF TUT

Gives Brief Outline Of Great Pharaoh's Life

Edward W. Gifford, M. L.

Edward W. Gifford, curator of the Museum of the Affiliated Colleges in San Francisco, has discovered among his collections a scarab, or signet beetle stone, of King Tut-ankh-Amen, whose tomb has just been revealed in Luxor, Egypt. The scarab bears a brief history of the great Pharaoh's life.

MULTIPLE LISTING SYSTEM IS DECLARED BIG SUCCESS HERE

W. A. Horn Says Method Gains Favor In This City; Points Out Some Advantages

SALES for March, under the multiple listing system, have already reached a total of $27,000, announces W. A. Horn, chairman of the publicity committee of the Glendale Realty Board. An analysis of this sum shows that three of the sales were improved property and the remaining one a vacant lot.

"It is obvious," Mr. Horn states, "that this system is rapidly gaining favor in Glendale, both among realtors and property owners. When it is considered that the system had its inception only last December, remarkable strides have been made. Each month has shown a marked increase in sales. The total for December was $45,000, that for January $143,500, and that for February $166,825. March should exceed the latter figure, as it is already over half the total for December.

Gets Quick Action
"The prime reason for the growth of the multiple listing system, both in Glendale and wherever it is in operation, is its unquestioned fairness. It is as broad as it is long. It gets quick action. It eliminates all possibility of questionable practices. And, most important of all, it brings buyer and seller into closer contact."

"That this system contains easily recognizable advantages is proved by the fact that at the present time forty-seven out of the sixty-five active members of the Glendale Realty board are operating under it. "In eastern cities such as New York, Chicago, Detroit and Buffalo, where the multiple listing system has been in operation for a number of years, it is considered such a privilege to list and sell property in this efficient manner that annual fees of from $50 to $250 are gladly paid by realtors to operate under the system."

Offers Evidence
Miss Winifred Traver, office secretary of the Glendale Realty board, furnished several instances of the promptness and effectiveness of the multiple listing system, in turning over real estate. "A piece of property listed Saturday morning," she stated, "came to the Board the same morning, was sent out immediately to the forty-seven members operating under the system, and was sold that afternoon by another office."

"Six of the February sales were for property in excess of $10,000 in value, and in only one instance out of the six was the property sold by the same firm that made the listing."

"One company had held a large piece of property for a number of months, unable to make a sale, then turned the piece in under the multiple listing system, with the result that it was sold in less than a month."

Sold While Sick
"One member of the board operating under the system had two of his listings sold while he was home sick in bed, which is almost as good as indemnity insurance."

In order that the multiple system be quite clear in the minds of the citizens of Glendale, Miss Traver explained that a multiple listing is exclusive, by reason of the fact that it automatically goes to the forty-seven members of the Board co-operating thereunder, thus precluding the necessity of the property owner listing elsewhere.

At the same time, it was explained, the realtor is not compelled to turn in the listing under the multiple system, unless the property owner demands it, even though he is a member of the

MELINE COMPANY

OPEN GLEN OAKS

Glendale Home Seekers to Have First Chance to Purchase Lots

What Burlingame is to San Francisco, what Montecito is to Santa Barbara, what the Frank Meline company made of Beverly Hills to Los Angeles, that is what they plan to make of Glen Oaks to Glendale.

Situated in a superb amphitheatre of gently sloping green hills wooded with fine old live oaks, pepper and eucalyptus trees, sheltered on north, south and east but openly grandly to the west for an unsurpassed stretch of panoramic vista, Glen Oaks offers an irresistible appeal to Glendale home-seekers to come here and live amid surroundings of beauty and peace, the officials of the Frank Meline company feel, far from all distracting influences, yet only five minutes to Brand and Broadway.

"Here in this natural park, shaped like a horseshoe, the sea breezes always blow, states Tract Manager Hascal S. Hall; bridle-paths wind in and around the shady hills, connecting with the Flintridge path; a seventy foot boulevard brings Pasadena to the very gates of Glendale; a community house, tennis courts and two acres of adjoining ground will be dedicated to the property-owners in this exclusive suburb; definite but reasonable restrictions have been set; lots averaging 100 by 200 feet each, or a half acre; each lot bears from forty to fifty twelve year old, full-bearing apricot trees; homes may be had either on thickly wooded hillsides or the level orchards of the amphitheatre floor; clear, crystal spring water flows on the tract; and other advantages abound almost too numerous to mention."

Invite Inspection
"We want the folks to take the kiddies and come out to Glen Oaks to see for themselves," urged Mr. Hall. "Words fail to describe what we have to offer. This isn't just another subdivision. This is the building of Glendale's great outstanding residential suburb. The Meline company do things in a big way. When they undertake such a project, it is only after months of careful study and preparation. They know what they are doing. They made Beverly Hills what it is today, and they will give Glendale, in Glen Oaks, the same superior type of high-class home district."

The owners of this property, for whom the Frank Meline company are acting as representatives, are John R. Powers and Charles Tryon. The property, which totals 750 acres, was an old Spanish ranch, with a history behind it as romantic as any in southern California.

Glendale's Chance
In addition to the work of Tract Manager Hall, the Glen Oaks development is receiving the close personal attention of Walter P. Hubbard, manager of the Frank Meline company.

Mr. Hubbard states that his firm is purposely not opening a Glendale office for this tract, preferring to co-operate with local realtors, in conjunction with its own salesmen on the property. "This is a pre-opening sale," Mr. Hubbard says, with reference to the full page advertisement in this issue of the Glendale Evening News, announcing the opening to the public of Glen Oaks. "We want the people of Glendale to have the first chance at this. It is their suburb and they are entitled to that courtesy. Later we will advertise in the Los Angeles papers and elsewhere, but Glendale buyers with vision will have secured their home sites prior to this."

Glen Oaks faces Flintridge to the north, Glendale to the south, Pasadena to the east and the whole sweep of the San Fernando valley to the west.

L. A. Solons to Oppose Lyon's Power Measure

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—Thirteen members of the Los Angeles delegation in the assembly have signed a resolution protesting against and pledging themselves to work against a power bill introduced in January by Senator Charles Lyon of Venice.

Lyon's bill, S. B. 503, would permit Los Angeles city, through its Bureau of Power and Light, to take over and utilize power resources in other counties and communities outside of Los Angeles.

The resolution signed today declares that the Lyon bill would "seriously jeopardize the interests, progress and expansion of districts containing population minorities," and mentions Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino and the Santa Ana and Los Angeles valleys as among the districts and valleys that would be menaced.

Governor and Lawyer Quarrel Over Budget

SACRAMENTO, March 10.—The delegation of San Francisco supervisors who came to Sacramento to appeal to Governor Richardson for increased budget appropriations led to an exchange of name calling between the governor and Milton Marks of San Francisco city attorney's office. After calling on the governor to arrange an audience, Marks quoted him as saying that he favored the abolition of all the state teachers' colleges.

FLOORS IN HOME NEED RIGHT CARE

Proper Treatment Is Factor In Adding Beauty to Living Rooms

In the general scheme of your home, the floors play a very important part.

If they are finished beautifully the whole interior of your home will convey an impression of beauty, richness and refinement.

If they are dull and unattractive the general impression will be one of unattractiveness.

Usually the contractor or builder sublets the laying and finishing of hardwood floors to those who make it a business to finish this class of work.

Therefore, to those who desire to finish their own floors, methods ordinarily used may be of interest.

After the floor has been laid it is either scraped or sanded and in many instances both.

Scraping takes out the stains and eliminates unevenness.

Sanding puts the wood in still better shape.

Contractors employ a machine for sanding and it does excellent work.

For Natural Effects

If the natural wood effect is wanted, the floor is now filled with paste wood filler.

This material is in a putty-like form and is thinned with benzine or turpentine to the consistency of a very thin paint for application.

The filler is brushed on and as soon as it starts to flatten, or is allowed to dry one-half to one hour, it is wiped off with burlap or excelsior, always wiping across the cracks and the grain of the wood.

After twenty-four hours the surface is thoroughly sand-papered with 00 sand paper and all the dust and excess filler is removed.

Ordinarily a coat of white shellac is applied over the filler.

However, there is some doubt as to whether or not this is the best material to use.

The writer prefers a coat of the best floor varnish obtainable, applied thin.

For this work the varnish should be thinned with pure turpentine, about one pint to a gallon of varnish.

This coat should be brushed on thin and evenly.

Finishing in Wax

After the varnish has thoroughly dried, sand-paper again with 00 sand paper.

A second coat of varnish is applied without thinning the material.

If a waxed finish is desired, the wax is applied over the second coat of varnish.

It is very important that the wax coat should be thoroughly polished.

It is a good idea in re-waxing floors or refinishing a surface after a year or so take off the old wax with gasoline or benzine.

Several applications of wax in time become gummy, and if the floor is to be kept in first class condition, too many coatings of wax should not be allowed to accumulate.

Do not apply varnish remover or any varnish solvent to take off wax, unless it is necessary to re-build the finish from the wood up.

The color of the wood can be changed in finishing new floors by procuring a paste filler of the color wanted and then applying an oil stain of the same color over the filler.

These colors are light and dark oak, mahogany, walnut, etc.

Close grained woods or maple do not require a filler. The varnish is applied directly to the wood.

Floors that have become dented, stained or marred should be scraped and sanded.

This method will put the floor in excellent condition for refinishing and in every respect will be as good as a new floor.

It is necessary in using varnish and fillers to have the room well ventilated, as these materials dry by oxidation and plenty of fresh air is essential.

Care of Floors

Housewives make a mistake in applying polishing oils and floor oils to a varnished floor.

A good furniture polish is permissible if the polishing is actually done.

Any excess of oil or polish will accumulate and darken the finish. Thoroughly polished wax is the best finish.

If a varnished finish is wanted after a floor has been waxed, it is very important that all the wax be removed.

Several washings with turpentine or benzine are necessary.

Varnish will not dry or harden over a waxed surface.

BULLETS IN THE AIR

Bullets shot point first straight up into the air return with the points still upward and if fired base first they will come down base upward.

SOME BANQUET

One banquet given by President Lobet of France to the czar and carina of Russia, cost $30,000 for 500 covers.

MANY GUESTS AT REALTY BANQUET

Southland's Leading Realtors Address Eagle Rock Board Members

EAGLE ROCK, March 10.—Tom Ingersoll, nationally known realtor, and for many years the secretary of the National Real Estate association, and at present secretary of the Los Angeles Realty Board, was the principal speaker at the very successful banquet given by the realtors of Eagle Rock, last night at the Women's Club here.

About one hundred guests enjoyed the banquet served by the members of the "1000 Fund" section of the Twentieth Century club.

Godfrey Edwards was the toastmaster. Other speakers were Glenn D. Williamson, state secretary and managing director, who spoke on "Our State Association; What It Means to You," Wm. H. Akin, chairman of the state association's legislative committee, spoke of "Some Phases of Our Legislative Program."

C. W. Young as chairman of the arrangements for the banquet certainly established a record along that line.

Building Permits

Building permits were issued on March 8, as follows:

H. A. Miche land Frank Michel, of 225 Dryden street, Glendale, ten bungalows to be erected on East Colorado boulevard and Glencoe court, in the 1200 block at a cost of $4500 each, and two bungalows on Glencoe court at Colorado, at $5500 each; Mrs. R. H. Height, residence at 431 Del Mar street, $1500. March 9, Mrs. C. E. Smith of Lodi, Cal., eight-room house at 225 North Delaware street $6000; Albert S. Johnson, office at 808 East Colorado, $400; Pasadena Ice Company, 298 South Castle, porch, $100.

For several years the stopping place of southbound street cars was on the south side of the intersection of Colorado and Central avenue, but since the establishing of the safety zone station, the new stop is on the north side of Colorado, just before turning south.

This is in front of the bank and at the entrance of the new structure makes it a little farther for passengers coming from Glendale, but the additional comfort and safety in crossing the street more than compensate.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Yost are disposing of their Eagle Rock home at 839 West Hill street and with their family are returning to their old home, 201 West Doran street, Glendale. Their daughter, Miss Tamson Johnson, entertained a number of friends recently in honor of Miss Marjorie Childs, with whom she was in school at La Jolla last year.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Diebold of Hollywood, who are recently from San Francisco, were Eagle Rock visitors yesterday, looking around with a view to investment.

Dedication day last Sunday at the Eagle Rock Church of Christ proved a great success and a spirit of hopeful optimism pervades the entire congregation. During four months the church has grown from a group of about half a dozen to a membership of sixty, who have contributed over $5000 for church property, as well as a weekly donation of more than $45 for church expenses. Plans are now under way to enlarge the church building.

McCormick and Bride Dodge Reporters

SAN DIEGO, March 10.—Harold F. McCormick stole a march on newspaper men this afternoon when he motored sixty miles east to board the train bearing his bride of a year, Ganna Walska. The reporters and photographers were at the station here en masse hoping to see the couple greet each other.

The meeting took place in Ganna's compartment, to her great surprise, members of the train crew said. The couple seemed happy and gay when they alighted. Ganna refused to be photographed or interviewed, covering her face with her hands and hat brim.

MOVIE THEATRES YIELD BIG TAXES

Fifteen million persons visited motion picture theaters and other places of amusement in Southern California during January. Admission tax collections for February reported yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex Goodcell amounted to $232,021.53, which represents the tax paid on $2,320,215.30 spent by the pleasure-seeking public in January.

Of the attendance of 15,000,000, approximately 6,000,000 was tax free, the 10-cent ticket tax having been eliminated by the new revenue act.

Striking evidence of the remarkable growth in motion picture attendance in Southern California is presented by Collector Goodcell's statement that admission tax receipts for the entire year 1918 were $582,606, as compared with $232,021 for January of this year, indicating an increase of 700 per cent, approximately, in the last five years, in the army of picture fans. In 1918 ten-cent tickets were taxed, but under the present law an army of 6,000,000 fans visit moving picture and other places of amusement each month free of tax.

Other Taxes Grow

February receipts from sales tax on syrups and beverages were $732, an increase of 95 per cent over February, 1922. This tax represents sales of 1,400,000 gallons of non-alcoholic beverages. Manufacturers' excise tax produced $110,575.82, an increase of 11 per cent. This tax represents manufacturers' sales of $2,250,000. Increase over last year was 14 per cent.

Bootleggers Must Pay

Bootleggers who have been assessed taxes and penalties by the Internal Revenue Bureau, and who have neglected to file offers in compromise, may be compelled to pay the full assessments charged against them, under instructions received from Washington by Collector Rex Goodcell. These penalties range from $550 to $2500. Under the new ruling Collector Goodcell is directed to arrange for court hearings for each assessed bootlegger. Until plans for these hearings are perfected, bootleggers have the opportunity for submitting offers in compromise, in lieu of the penalties assessed against them. One hundred and forty bootleggers have already submitted compromise offers.

He's Happy To See Statue Of Liberty

Interesting figures relating to federal taxes were announced today by Collector Goodcell, showing that internal revenue collections for February amounted to $2,212,037.15, and compared with receipts of $1,900,195.16 for February, 1922, there was a gain of 16 per cent. Of the total receipts, $1,231,639.15 was income tax, and $980,338 miscellaneous taxes. Income tax receipts showed an increase of 10 per cent, and miscellaneous tax a gain of 25 per cent, over February 1922.

Mark L. Requa Tells Way to Meet Solution of Present Petroleum Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE—Development of oil reserves properly controlled will afford the solution of the petroleum problem rather than the recommendation of the La Follette investigating committee. In the opinion of Mark L. Requa, general director of the oil division, United States fuel administration during the war. His views are presented in the following statement:

By MARK L. REQUA, General Director of Oil Division, U. S. Fuel Administration during 1918-1919. Written and copyrighted by International News Service, 1923.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The solution of the petroleum problem will not be found in any recommendations made by the senate investigating committee of which Senator La Follette was the chairman.

That there is a problem no one with the least knowledge of the industry will, I think, attempt to deny. That its solution will not come through punitive government action, is equally obvious to those having even superficial knowledge of the tremendous complexities involved.

The petroleum industry contains within itself all the problems of transportation, manufacturing and distribution that are common to our great transportation, manufacturing and marketing organizations that serve the public welfare. In addition it is confronted with the problem of producing a wasting asset, the quantity of which and its location are both obscure.

Great Increase
Our production has increased from 299,000,000 barrels in 1910 to 443,000,000 barrels in 1920, and 550,000,000 barrels in 1922. At the same ratio the increase in 1930 will show a production on to 1,000,000,000 barrels. Production, is of course, prompted by demand.

I am not one of the group of alarmists who prophesy the comparatively immediate exhaustion of our reserves of petroleum, but I do believe that the problem in the light of enormously increasing demand must be subjected to the most skillful co-operative effort between the government and the petroleum industry if it is to be met successfully.

The objective to be obtained is prevention of violent price fluctuations due to surplus, or shortage of crude. This will come, if it comes at all, through development of large reserves properly controlled. It is the negation of the present government policy. Recommendations of government control, price fixing, prohibiting exportation, compulsory reports and the like, as urged in the La Follette report will not only fail in accomplishing the desired result, but will make matters indefinitely worse.

Naval Welfare
The naval welfare is too vitally involved to permit the problem to be made the football for political experimentation; that the experimenters will themselves meet political annihilation in the end, due to the operation of inexorable economic laws, will afford neither compensation for the damage done, nor satisfy the needs of the situation.

Personally, I have been sure since 1915 that eventually co-operation of the proper kind between the government and industry would become necessary. But this co-operation must be of the right kind; it must be free of all political motive, and the government must recognize the obvious fact that industry can perform its task better than can the government.

The petroleum industry in its own behalf must recognize that its task is to serve the public and that those things must be done that will the better render that service.

Government Function
The function of government is to co-operate in making that service possible. It must be prepared to throw the mantle of government protection and approval around industry in the performance of its task when occasion demands.

The road will not be an easy one to travel because of misconception upon the part of both the government and the industry. The industry, in part, at least, recognizes the situation; to date the government does not, and until it does, and is prepared to proceed in the only possible way that will guarantee success, to recognize the economic involved, and to submerge all political consideration it would be better for all concerned that the government adhere to a policy of non-interference.

Real Estate Leader To Visit Southland

L. F. Eppich of Denver, Colo., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will visit Los Angeles during his term of office, according to a letter just received by Tom Ingersoll, secretary of the Los Angeles Realty Board.

Mr. Eppich says: "I am not unmindful of my many friends on the Pacific coast and I am planning to make a visit some time during the year, not only to renew friendships but to do all that is possible to cement the relations of the local boards and the national association."

"The interest of the California members is an inspiration to the rest of the country and I want to know how much the officers appreciate their work."

Great Prosperity to Fall Upon Valley, Declare Realty Experts

The formation of the La Crescenta, La Canada and Montrose Realty Board, at the get-together luncheon that was held in the City Park Wednesday of this week, when the realtors of these three towns and of Tujunga were the guests of the Glendale Realty Board at a barbecue luncheon, marks another important forward step in the development of what is admitted to be the most progressive and the most beautiful section of the Southland.

With the admission of these men into the list of realty boards in the state, and their consequent affiliation with the National Real Estate Association, this development will go forward along lines that will hew closely to the highest professional standards and to the strict code of ethics that guide the men who claim the title of "Realtors."

Homeowners who are threatening to the fertile valleys and the wooded hills of the San Fernando Valley, the Switzerland of America, as it has been described, are facing an era of prosperity whose equal has never been known in the history of real estate development, and none will have a greater share in bringing that development to a successful end than the men and women of the realty boards of this wonderful part of the Golden State.

Los Angeles County Leads in Valuations

The assessed value of all property in nine southern counties of California in 1921 was $2,095,498,525.00 and in 1922 the State Board of Equalization in its annual report shows that the assessed value of the same property had increased to $2,250,433,592. Of this last amount Los Angeles county represented $1,573,417,937. Kern county was next with more than 180 million and Orange followed with better than 150 million dollars of assessed valuation. San Bernardino and San Diego counties follow in rapid succession.

The assessed valuation of property exclusive of operative property of corporations for the year 1921 was $693,652,445 in Los Angeles city while 1922 figures are $771,919,346. The assessed valuation in this city is on a 50 per cent basis.

Near East Situation Called 'Live Volcano'

ATHENS, March 10.—The situation in the near east was described as a "live volcano" by American business men who have been paying a visit of inspection. A group of American bankers and business men, all delegates to the international Chamber of Commerce meeting in Rome, have spent the past week studying conditions in the Mediterranean countries.

"The economic and political situation in the near east can only be described as a live volcano," said Oliver Sands, president of the American National bank of Richmond, Va., speaking for his colleagues. "The fires of this volcano are costing countless lives. If the people in the United States believe that the near east situation is clearing up they are badly mistaken."

'Measles for Sale' Sign Starts Police Probe

STEELTON, Pa., March 5.—"Measles for Sale" and "Measles for Rent" are two signs which recently have been displayed on many houses here. The queer combination became so common inquiries were made to the local police concerning the meaning of the signs and why they were posted. A policeman was sent to investigate.

After looking over more than a score of such signs the officer decided that the borough health officer either had a well developed sense of humor or an entire lack of it. An epidemic of measles has been prevalent here for some time. An unusual number of houses are posted "For Sale" or "For Rent." Each time the health officer posted a "measles" sign, either accidentally or by design, he placed it exactly above the "For Rent" or "For Sale" sign. "Thus happened the queer combination."

QUICK PROFIT IN RE-SALE OF LOTS

Original Buyers in Wing
Orange Grove Tract
Clean Up $2920

A profit of $2920 has been made on the re-sale within three weeks of three lots in the Wing Orange Grove tract, is the statement issued by Tract Manager Marvin Smith, from his office at 1200 East Colorado street.

The company's books show that $1119 of this profit was made on lot 45, $1119 on lot 46 and $700 on lot 47. These three lots adjoin one another on East Colorado street.

"So fast are things moving out here," states Mr. Smith, "that we find, by checking up our accounts to date have totaled over $100,000. As the tract has been opened just about twenty-one days, we consider that a record."

"Out of the total of 113 lots in the tract, 55 have already been purchased. We confidently expect to be sold out within a month."

Local Purchasers
This is particularly significant in view of the fact that no advertising has been placed elsewhere than in Glendale papers, which means that the people who are buying this property are local people, well acquainted with the place.

Mr. Smith sees a significant indication of rising values in the recent purchase by the Sam Seelig Grocery Company of the southwest corner of Colorado and Adams, just a block from the Wing Orange Grove tract.

"This company is composed of keen business men," he states, "who make a careful study of a district before they locate there. Rising values invariably follow the Seelig stores."

"Another value-making factor in our offering is the way it is bounded by two main boulevards—Colorado street, leading from Riverside, to Los Angeles and the beaches; and Sycamore Canyon road, running from the valley towns to the cities."

"But, greatest of all is the appeal this beautiful tract makes to the home-seeker, with all its close-in advantages."

PROTECT BUYERS OF REAL ESTATE

State Laws Are Safeguard
For Realty Investors in California

"At the time the State Real Estate department was created in 1919, by the legislature, the authors of the measure did not anticipate many of the problems that the department would be called upon to meet, for California was beginning pioneer legislation in this respect," says Edwin T. Keiser, State Real Estate Commissioner, in his annual report.

"Since that time fifteen other states have enacted real estate legislation and as many others expect to make the attempt at the next session of their respective legislatures. There being no precedents to follow, this department had to blaze a new trail in everything that has been undertaken. Policies had to be adopted and problems had to be solved which were entirely new. Because of this condition we are highly gratified that the department has functioned in such a way that the results obtained seem to have not only satisfied the proponents of the Real Estate Act, but also have met with the approval of the public."

"The principal guiding purpose we have always had in mind in the administration of the act is the thought that the legislature had when it passed the act, and that is to make it just as difficult as possible for the crooked real estate broker to remain in business."

"Because of the great activity in real estate in certain parts of California during the past year and a half, greatly increased demands have been made upon the department. Land has been subdivided for promotion purposes in various parts of the state and speculation has run rife. Projects with and without merit have been offered to the public. Thousands of the poorer class of people have lost all of their savings by turning over their money to unscrupulous promoters, whose only interest was to serve themselves. Because of such operations the department has been swamped with complaints. We have tried in every way possible to give relief and believe that valuable service has been rendered."

MODEL COUNTRY HOMES PROVE ATTRACTION AT FLINTRIDGE

Building Program In Section Today Is Said to Involve Nearly Quarter of Million Dollars

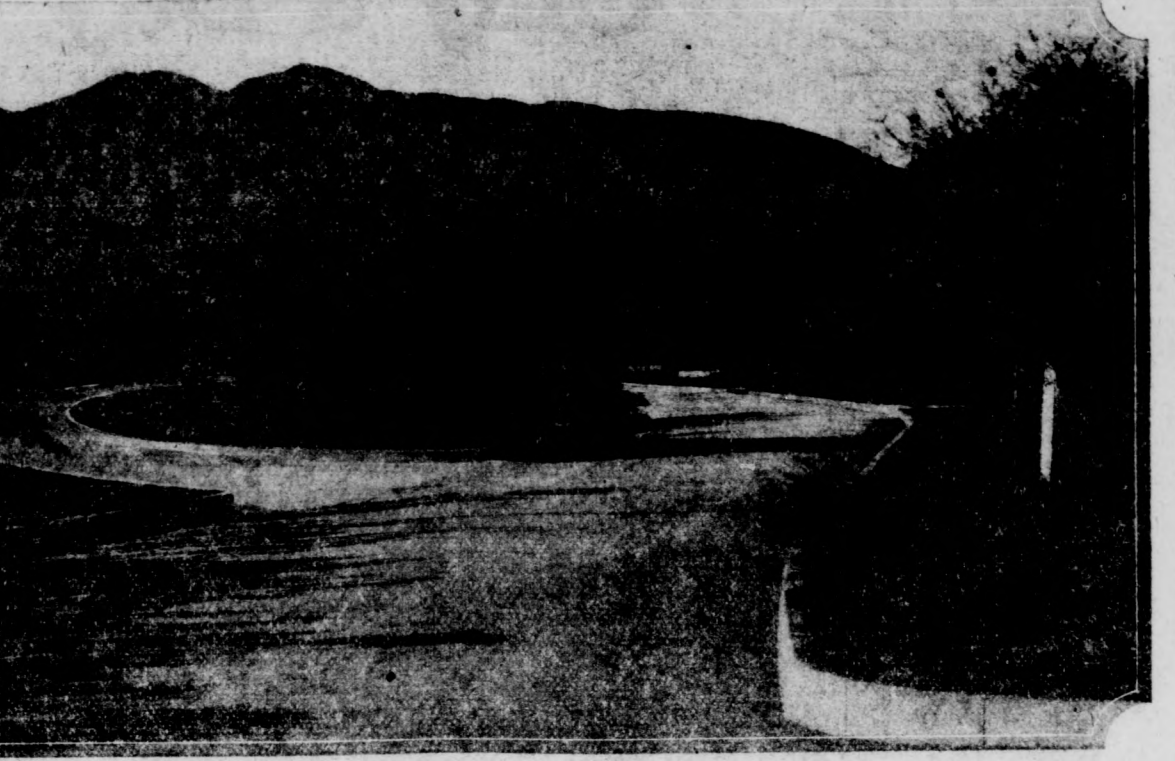

The management of Flintridge reports that the season of 1923 promises to be the most active year in the history of this famous property. There are today more homes under construction than ever before; there is unprecedented activity in the market for Flintridge homes and homesites, and greater numbers of interested people are visiting the property than at any time since this picturesque region was opened to public development.

Scores of Glendale people took the short drive out to Flintridge during the week to visit the model country home which the management of Flintridge has erected this year for the purpose of showing what interesting results in the way of home building can be attained at Flintridge at modest cost. The house has been completely furnished in every detail and the grounds have been graded and planted. The house will be open for free public inspection week days and Sundays throughout the month.

In anticipation of the tremendous demand for Flintridge homes, several completed homes

the work of the department, many people have sought relief, who otherwise would not have turned to us for help. Many people have talked into land investments which they have had no use for whatever, and also in oil land lot subdivisions which have no chance to make good because of quality of land and over-capitalization of projects.

Old people have had the savings of a lifetime taken from them by heartless salesmen and many without experience in business have lost their entire capital. By keep-have been erected by the Flintridge management. One of these houses has just been made ready for sale and occupancy. The others will be ready for inspection within a few days. These houses range in cost from cozy cottages at $7,250 to magnificent residences at $60,000. For the present these houses are being listed at the actual cost of erection plus the cost of the site.

The building program at Flintridge today is said to involve nearly a quarter of a million dollars. Although Flintridge has been famous for its large estates, many of the homes now being erected are of the cottage or bungalow type. The public is learning that it is possible to enjoy the many advantages of a home in Flintridge at no greater expense than in other less desirable communities.

The interesting feature of the present activity at Flintridge is that by far the greater number of sales are being made to Glendale people. Residents of Glendale who have planned eventually living in Flintridge are realizing that no time is to be lost if they are to avoid disappointment.

Even though it may not be possible to build at once, they realize that the time to select their homesites is while original prices still prevail and while some of the most desirable locations are still available.

more than 100 per cent during the last year. Over 2000 hearings have been held during this period. This accounts largely for increased expenses."

Phone Installations Shows City's Growth

More than 27,000 new telephones were installed in Los Angeles during 1922, according to a report made by the Southern California Telephone Company. There are approximately 145,000 additional changes made in the same period of time. It was estimated that about $13,500,000 was expended by the company in construction work and it is planned to spend as much if not more in 1923.

There are 190,000 phones in use in Los Angeles. Plans are being made to serve ultimately more than 500,000 telephone users.

NEW COMPANY TO AID HOME LOANS

People's Finance & Thrift Co. Strongly Backed by Local Citizens

The People's Finance and Thrift Company of Glendale will be organized Tuesday afternoon at 104 East Broadway in the offices of the Glendale State Bank.

"The People's Finance and Thrift Company has been created for the purpose of meeting the demands of the man without collateral," remarked E. J. Williams of 113 East Broadway, recently. "Its endeavor is stated as meeting the financial needs of loans to inculcate the spirit of thrift by teaching to save as well as to borrow and repay."

"It is said that in 1910 there were 65,000 such institutions in Europe with an annual turnover of seven billion dollars. In 1921 more than a hundred million dollars was loaned in United States to wage-earners with a loss ratio of less than one-tenth of one per cent."

grow and eat quantities of it? Do we realize that the majority of people who have homes eat more than a thousand meals at home every year? How many of these meals contain fruits either raw or cooked?

Besides the fresh fruits, one may have jams and jellies, marmalades and butters, juices and syrups, for the entire year. Then there are fruit salads and fruits baked and canned and preserved. The ways of serving fruits are legion.

Seek Information

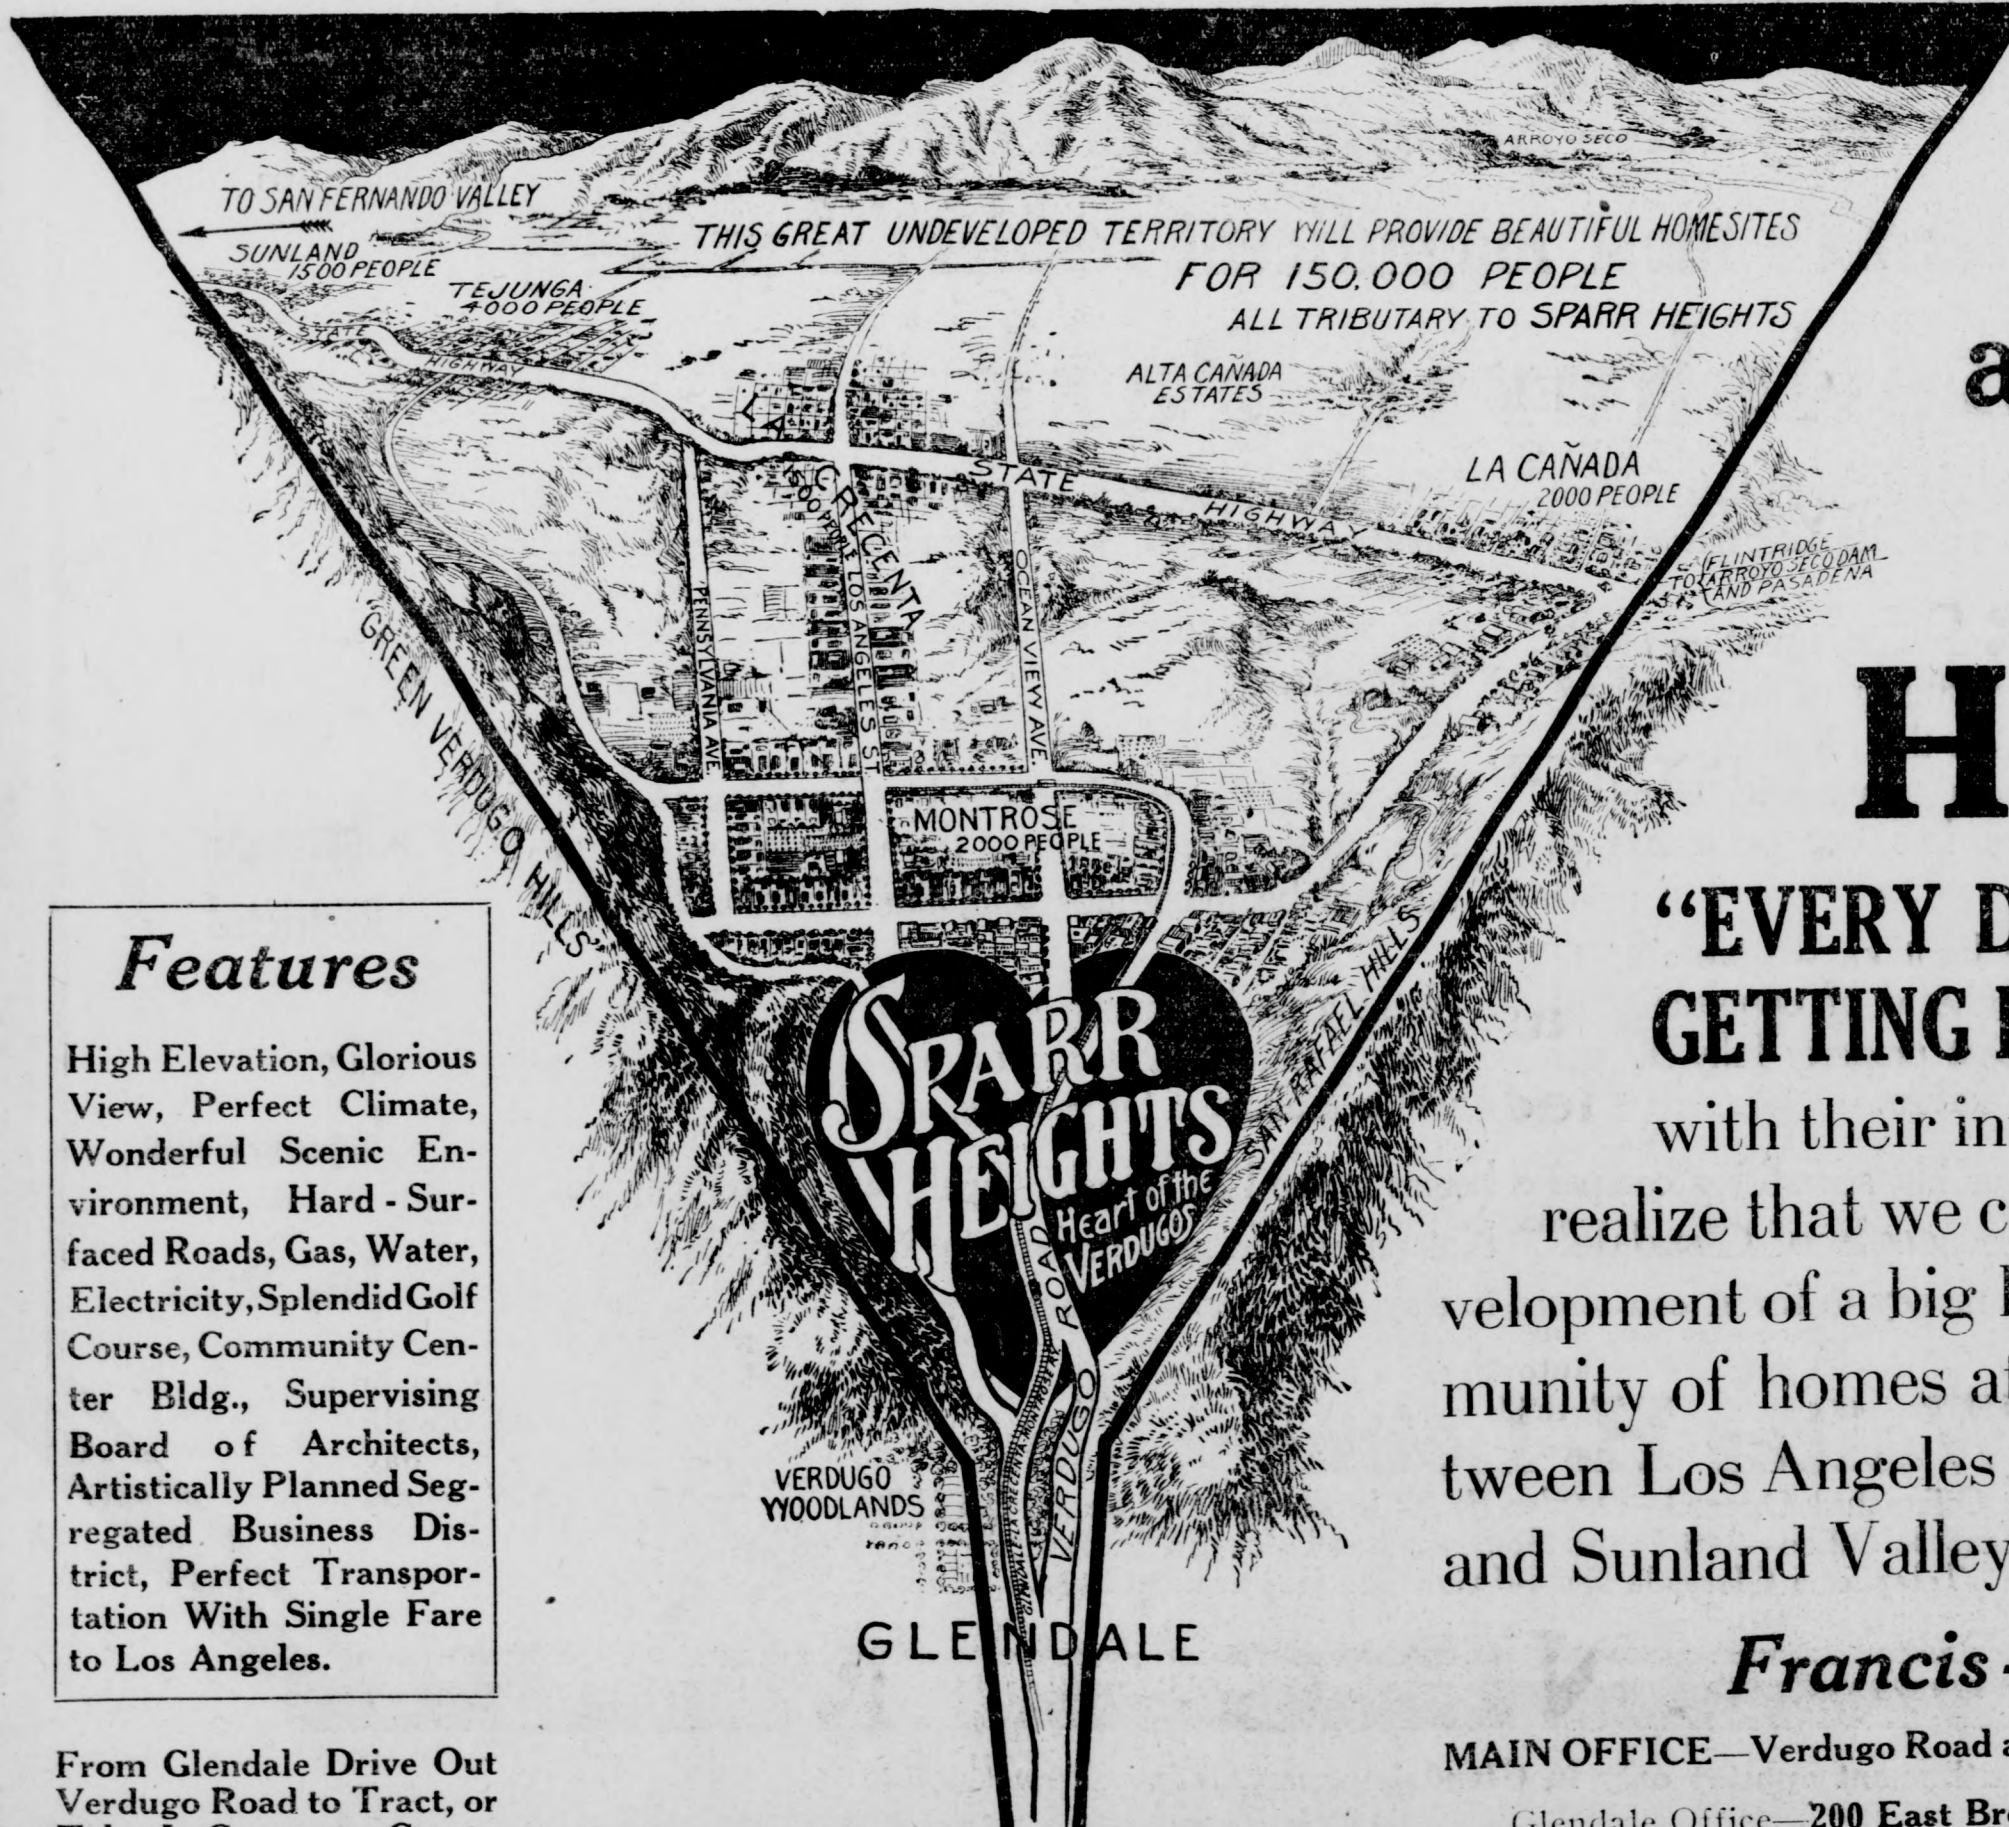

Coming now to the practical point of what varieties and kinds of fruits to plant and the preparation of the ground for planting, there are so many shades and varieties of climate, soil, elevations, slopes, sites and locations in California, that the county agricultural agents, county horticultural boards, and the university and experiment station fruit experts, should be appealed to for the reliable advice which they can furnish. The orange, lemon, navelo, avocado, fig, etc., will flourish in some valleys, but not in others.

The apple, pear, peach, apricot, plum and cherry will excel over vast areas. Grapes and berries have their particular sections for best results. Thus it is that the combined knowledge of all the trained fruit experts of California is desirable to start the Fruit Planting Week campaign on a rational and stable basis, so that there will be no flare-back on account of planting any kind of fruit in uncongenial soil or climate.

The right kinds of fruits and the right varieties must be used where they will succeed. And now, last, but not least, it must be remembered that those who plant fruit trees or small fruits this year will need information on the general care of these fruits for the next two or three years at least.

Here it was!—the famous Bellehurst ranch!—its rolling fertile groves lying in the heart of Glendale, untouched!—uninvaded!

Glendale, forging forward like wildfire, swept up to and around, leaving it like a beautiful green island in the midst of the city! Then came the Hand of Change. Through unusual circumstances, unnecessary to relate, the property has just come into our possession at a very low price.

Despite its right-down-town location, we are able to give Glendale people the unheard of opportunity of buying sites in this magnificent property fully 30 per cent below actual market value.

For a few days, before our big advertising campaign begins in the Los Angeles papers, we are offering this property exclusively to the people of Glendale. Not one single man or woman in the whole city of Glendale who has a little money to invest can afford to stay away from Bellehurst Park.

The rich experience of this company in developing hundreds of acres of Piedmont and Oakland's Lake District, will be lavished on Bellehurst Park to make it the most beautiful residence park in all Southern California.

The profits that will be made by Glendale people who snap up the choicest lots at the very start of our great sale, will be, in our judgment, almost beyond belief.

Nothing like it ever can or ever will happen in Glendale. It is an extraordinary and unique opportunity. People will talk about it for years to come.
